A view of the educational experience of York must be a many-faceted one, including both the harrowing and the delightful, the depressing and the hopeful. High school life seems disarmingly simple at first glance, but a more penetrating view reveals a surprisingly complex web of contrasts and contradictions. Untangling the inconsistencies of one year becomes the real education. To wrest order from contradiction, reality from contrast – that is the challenge!

College Seminars Guide Educational Planning

Juniors and seniors file into the Yorker Room and take their places. They have arrived to listen to a speaker who will discuss a very important step in their lives. Is he a professor or an economist? No, he is a college representative ready to give information about his institution and to answer questions.

Such were the scenes of this year's college seminars sponsored by the Guidance Department. Representatives from many Midwest colleges arrived at York to speak at these sessions. Along with the seminars, the department issued regular junior-senior bulletins concerning College Board Exams. This year the juniors took the Kuder Occupational Interest Survey to help themselves and their counselors see where students' interests were centered. In the post-high-school planning room students used a new DuKane slide projector and record player for an audio-visual presentation of colleges.

For students not going on to college there was the department's show case with job openings, descriptions, and names of employers to contact. By offering such opportunities the Guidance Department tried to help upper classmen plan for the future.

Underclassmen sought advice from counselors on questions concerning orientation and schedules. Counselor request from retainers, placed around the building, gave all students the chance to secure an immediate appointment.

Recognizing students' varying interests, the English Department offered several new programs designed to study aspects of English from different points of view. Humanities, created to focus on the vocabulary, processes, and understanding of specific art forms, encouraged individual expression. Among student projects were photography exhibits and musical slide shows. Throughout the year daily journals of emotionally or intellectually moving experiences were kept.

Creative writing offered aspiring authors the opportunity to study techniques and styles in order to perfect their attempts as an art form. The course provided an outlet for the student to submit his works – including poetry, short stories, and essays – for criticism and help.

English literature and social science formed a new flexible scheduling group with team teaching. The group consisted of two classes which either met together for films and discussions or separated for class or individual study.

College-bound students who wished to improve their reading found an independent reading program available during study periods. Machines designed especially to help improve such areas as speed, comprehension, and vocabulary also helped prepare students for aptitude tests.

Copy Machine, Microfilm Reader-Printer Added

Important additions to the second floor library this year were a new copy machine which enabled students to make reproductions of pages from books or articles and a microfilm reader-printer. Both were aids for independent study and research.

A new plan of scheduling was used in all four library rooms to increase learning facilities: the first three days of the week were assigned for class use and the last two days were open for individual study. Some English and social studies classes held seminars in the library. All freshmen had three periods of orientation in order to learn to use the library facilities effectively.

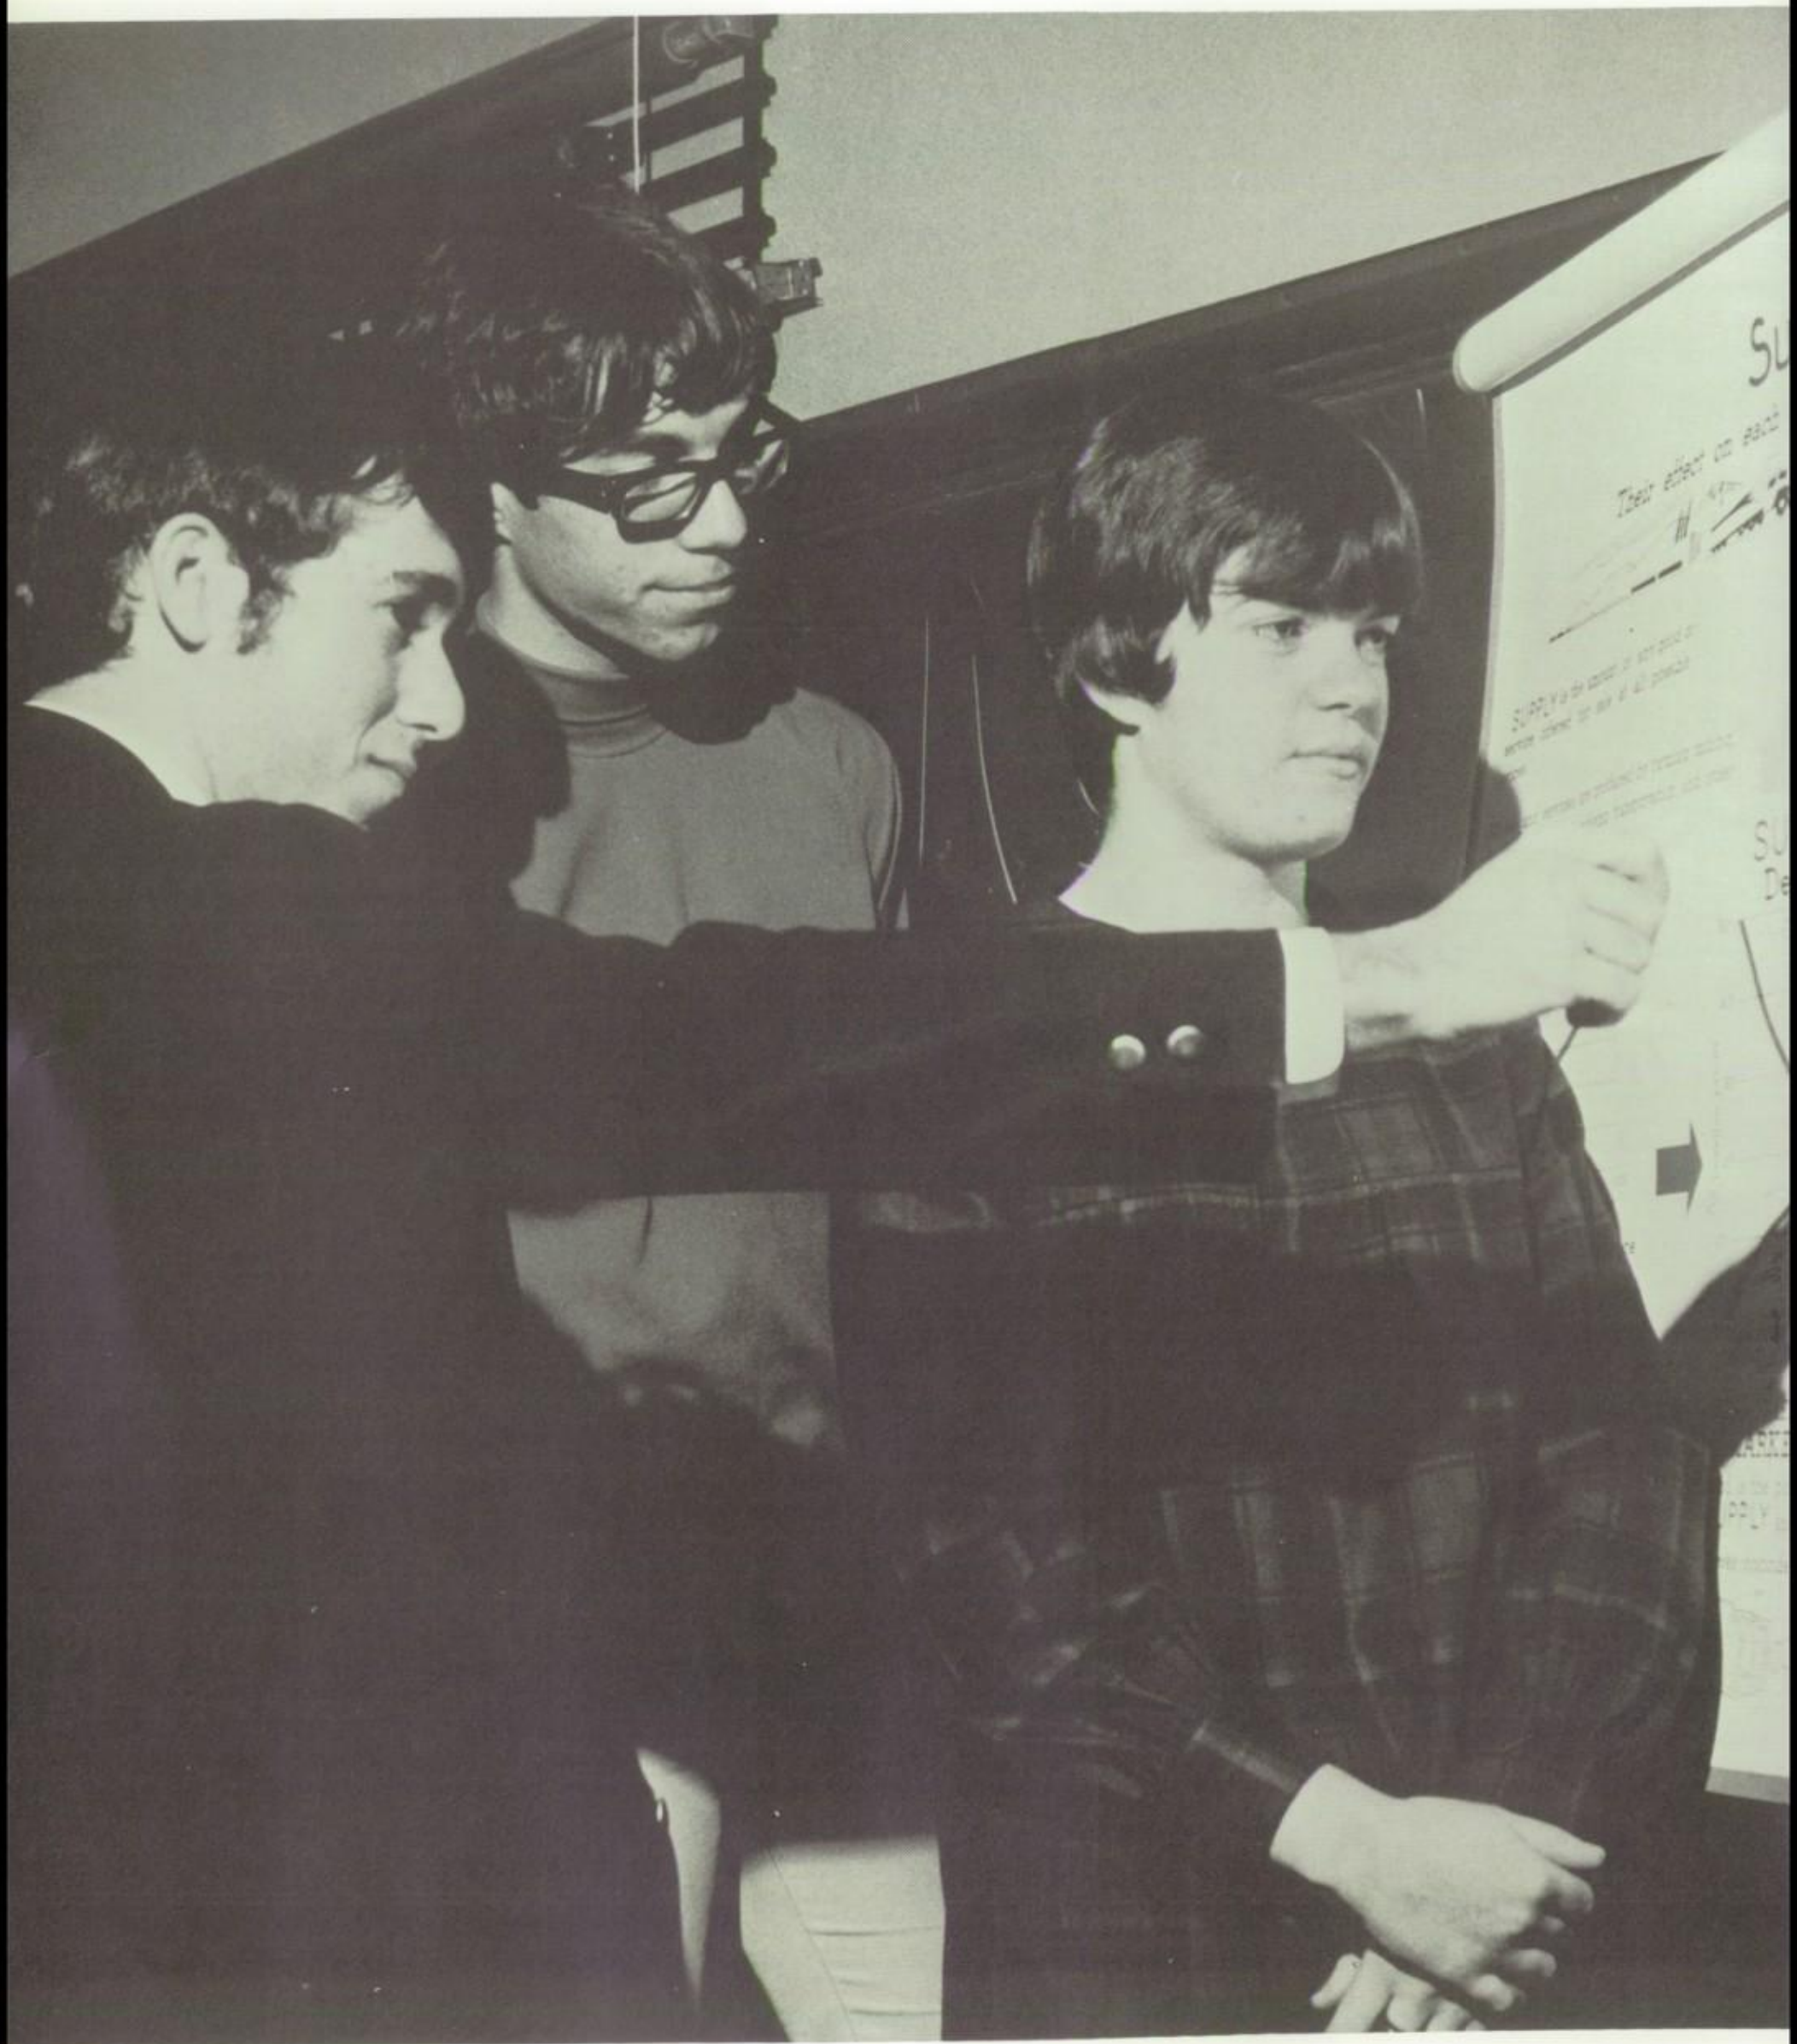
Cultures Come Alive In Foreign Language

Mastery of a foreign language is no simple task. At York the process was divided into four main endeavors—comprehending, speaking, reading, and writing. Would-be linguists encountered everything from grammar to language structure to idiomatic vocabulary. To promote confidence in oral expression and to introduce students to native dialects, each class spent one half period per week in the language lab. In addition to aural and conversational proficiency, the Foreign Language Department attempted to provide a panoramic view of the history and culture of foreign nations. Films, tape recordings, reading materials, and speakers proved to be invaluable in accomplishing the goals of the department.

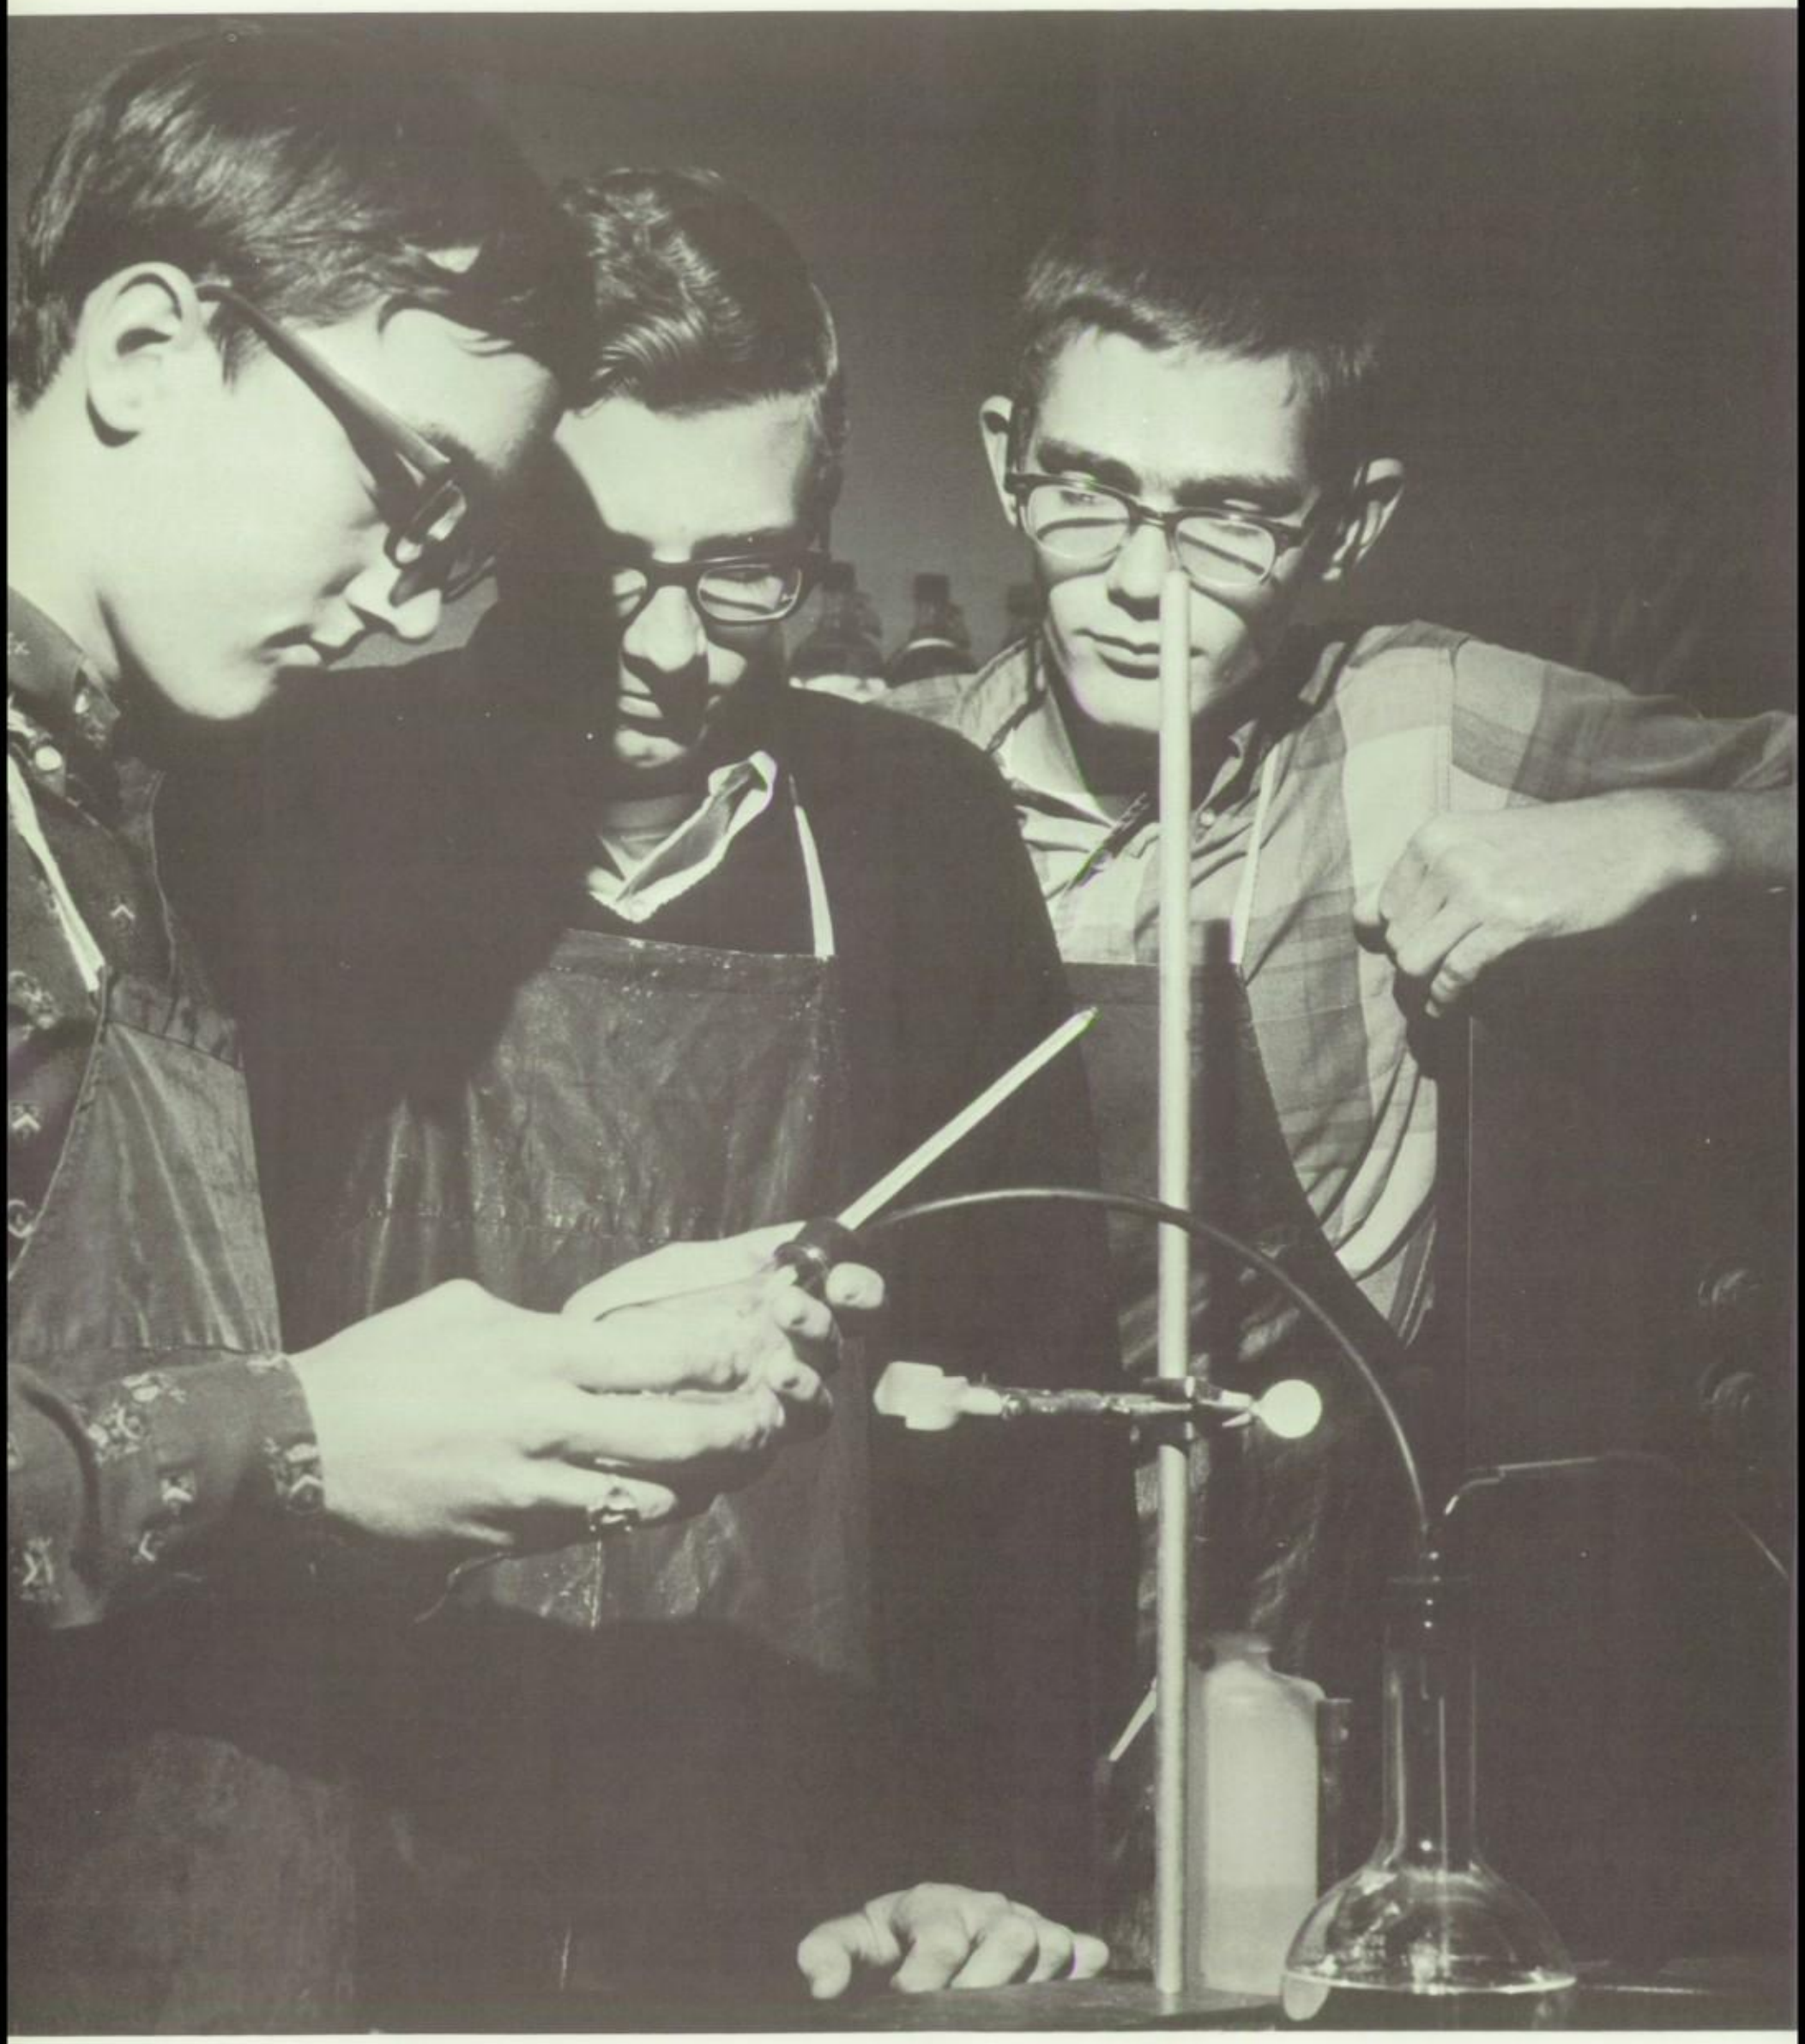
In the spring students who demonstrated outstanding ability were selected to participate in extra-academic contests. French, German, and Spanish students entered the American Association of Teachers of Foreign Language Contest while Latin students competed in the State Latin Contest.



Seminars Encourage Independent Study

A new addition to the Social Studies Department was a senior social seminar. As a team, Mr. Henry C. Hitt and Mrs. Carolyn A. Landwehr taught the course – a combination of Senior Social Science and English Literature. Fifty-nine students were divided into two classes with half attending English Literature. The pupils were on a flexible schedule, occasionally meeting together in Yorkshire Hall for films or lectures with the remaining time spent in independent study. Guest speakers afforded opportunities to learn about varied experiences first hand. An important factor in this course was that the pupils had time for and were held responsible for independent study.

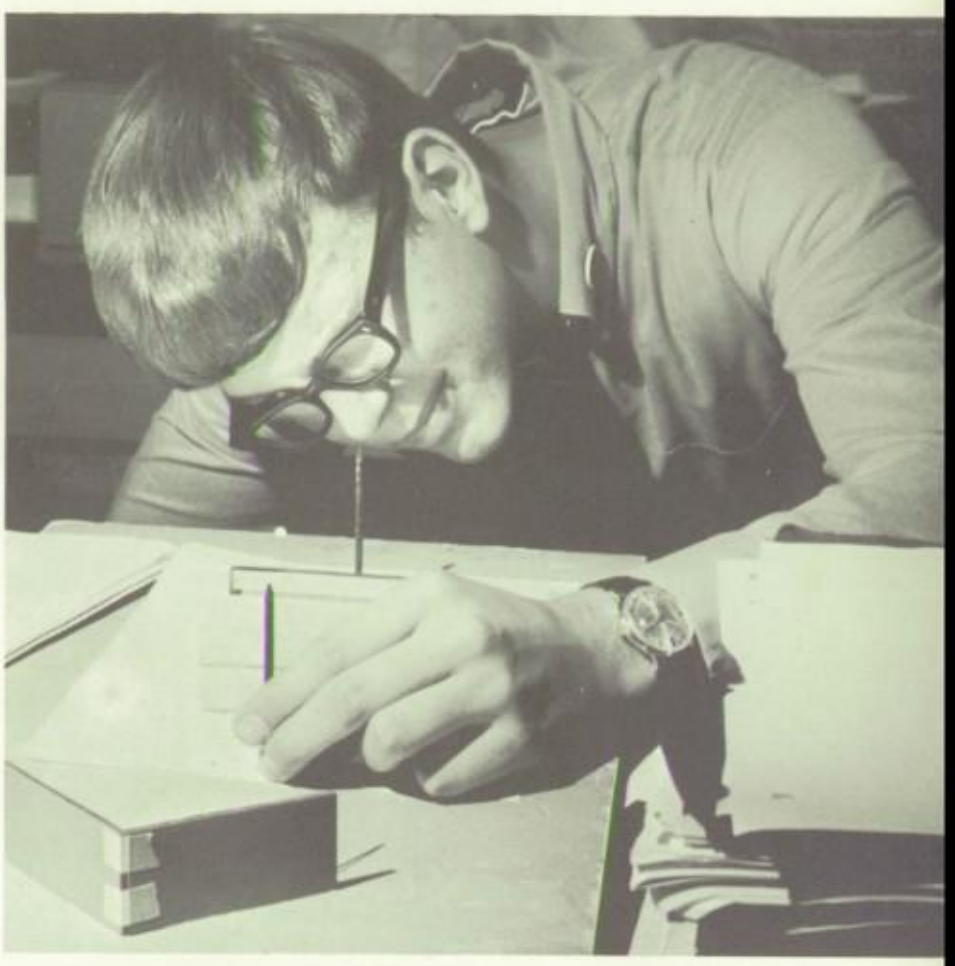
Student responsibility is characteristic of the Social Studies Department, since all courses except American History and Social Science are elective. Freshmen may enroll in community or world-oriented studies, sophomores may take World History or Economic Geography, and juniors and seniors may survey non-Western civilizations or cultural geography. Also open to chosen applicants are honors courses in American History and Senior Social Science.

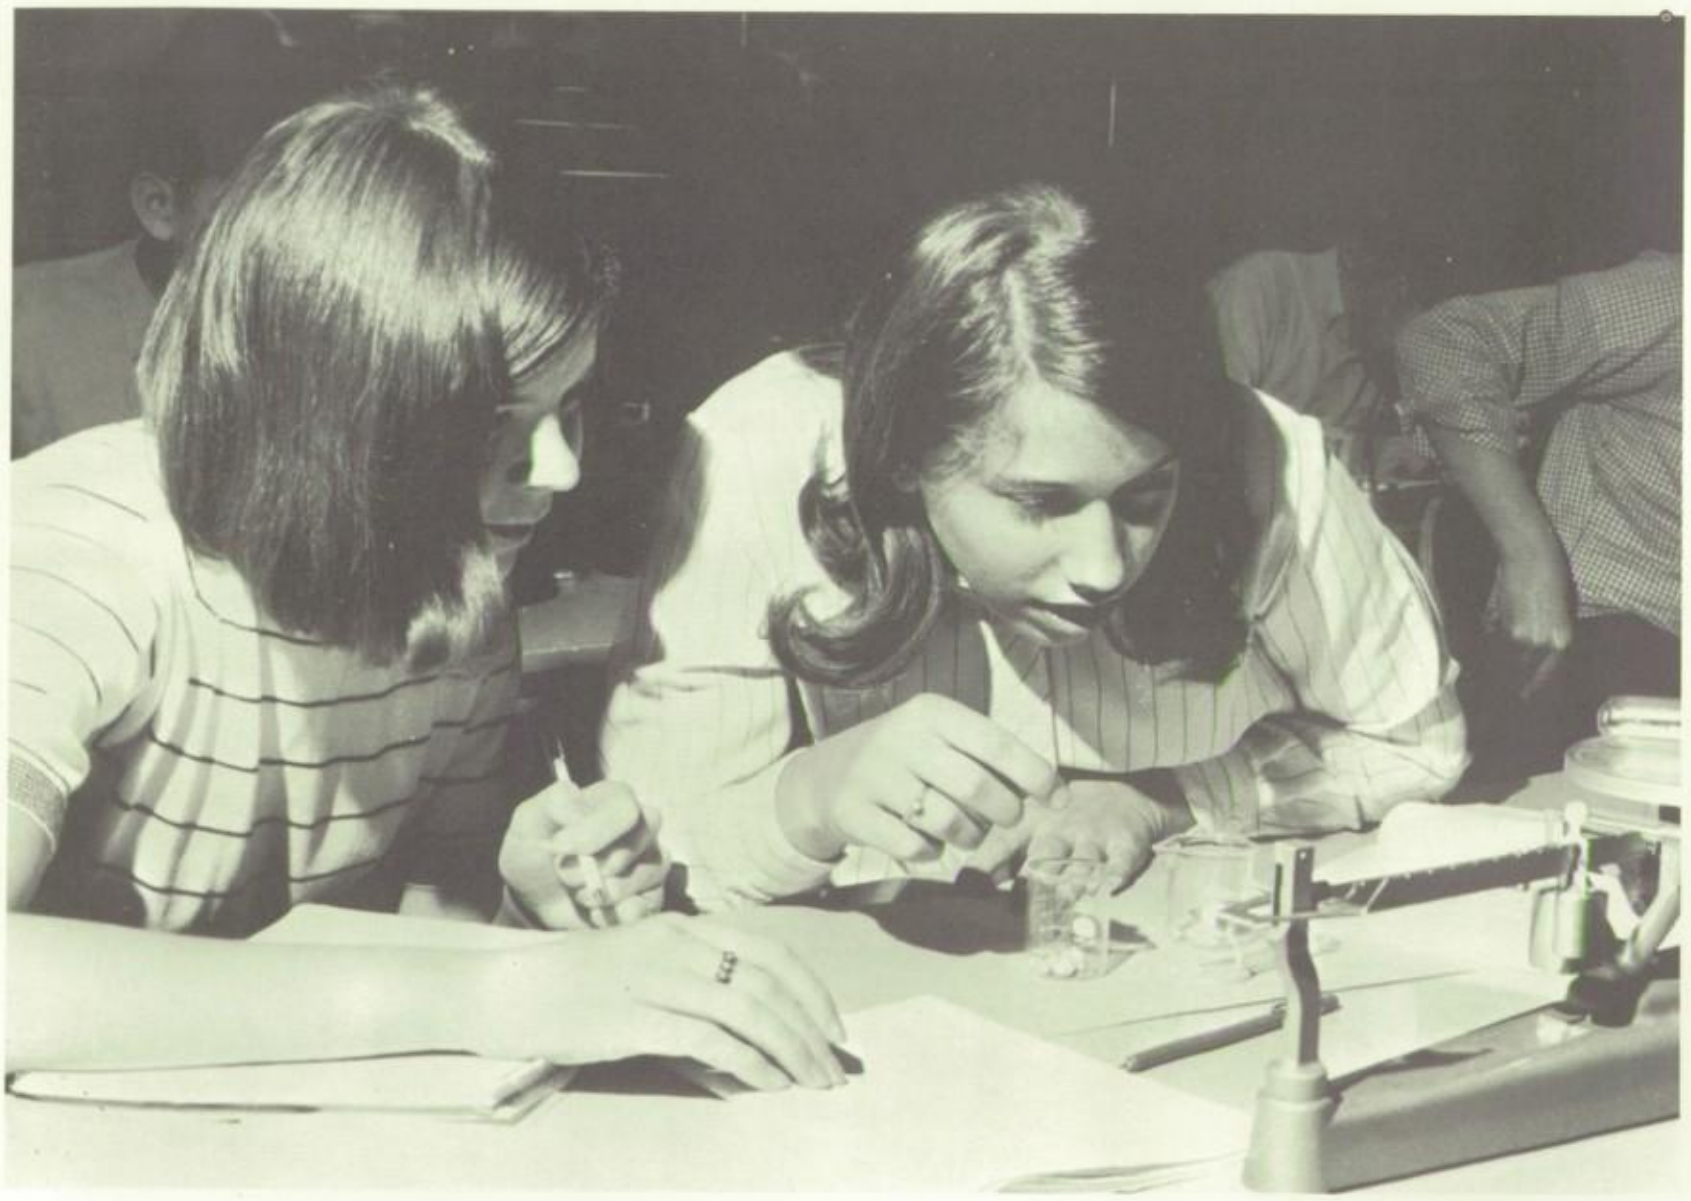


Scientific Study Probes Nature's Wonders

Styles of teaching the various scientific disciplines have been carefully considered in York's Science Department. In each of the four major subjects taught—physical science, biology, chemistry, and physics—new course levels and equipment were under constant analysis. The most recent addition was the sophomore Physical Science II course that provided a firm foundation, primarily, for students who did not plan to take physics or chemistry. Ambitious scholars were allowed to start biology in their freshman year, progressing toward the three year old Advanced Placement studies in either chemistry or biology. Sustained diligence by an upperclassman in Science Department academic work was rewarded with the Bausch and Lomb Science Award, and creative students entered an all-Chicago science fair.

Exemplifying the continual refinement of equipment for demonstration and student participation purposes was a linear air track to be used for frictionless motion studies in physics. Less sophisticated devices, such as small stoves and glassware, were no less important in creating a better science curriculum.





Comprehensive Programs Figure In Curriculum

With the introduction of several new courses, the Math Department had a greatly increased enrollment. Courses in Probability and Statistics and Computer Programming were created to keep pace with a mathematics-oriented society. A special room was provided for the department's computer teletypes, enabling students to use the machines any time. For seniors who were not math majors, but who wanted to prepare for college, the new College Prep Math course was offered. Upon the suggestion of the North Central Evaluating Committee, the Math Department provided an elementary Geometry course, while continuing a special two year Algebra program started in 1968. York also sponsored an accelerated four year course for exceptional students, which included a college credit calculus course in the senior year.

The Math Department, under the chairmanship of Mr. Thomas Nelson, hosts a chapter of the Mu Alpha Theta Math Honorary Society. The annual math contest, in which top math students in each class compete for recognition by the student body, is perhaps the highpoint of the year. A pin and certificate are given to the individual champion, while a team score – used for comparison with other schools – is compiled from the top three individual scores and sent to the Mathematical Association of America.

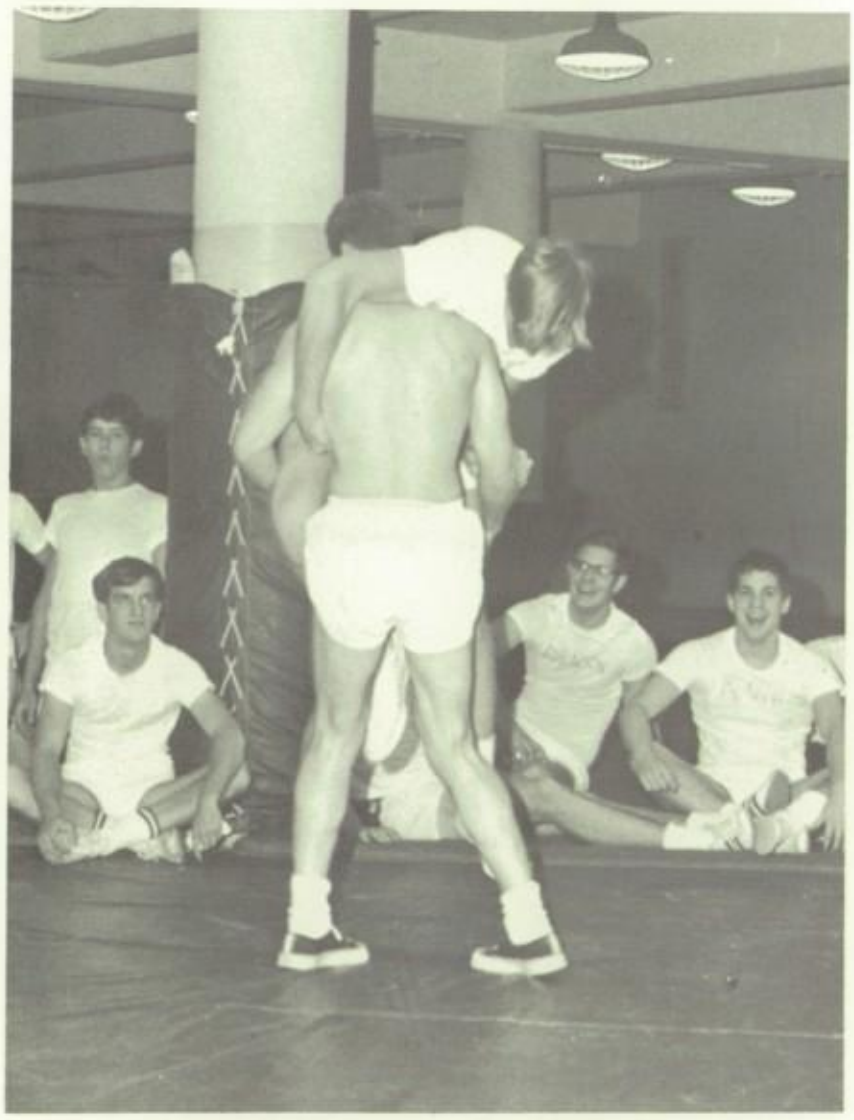
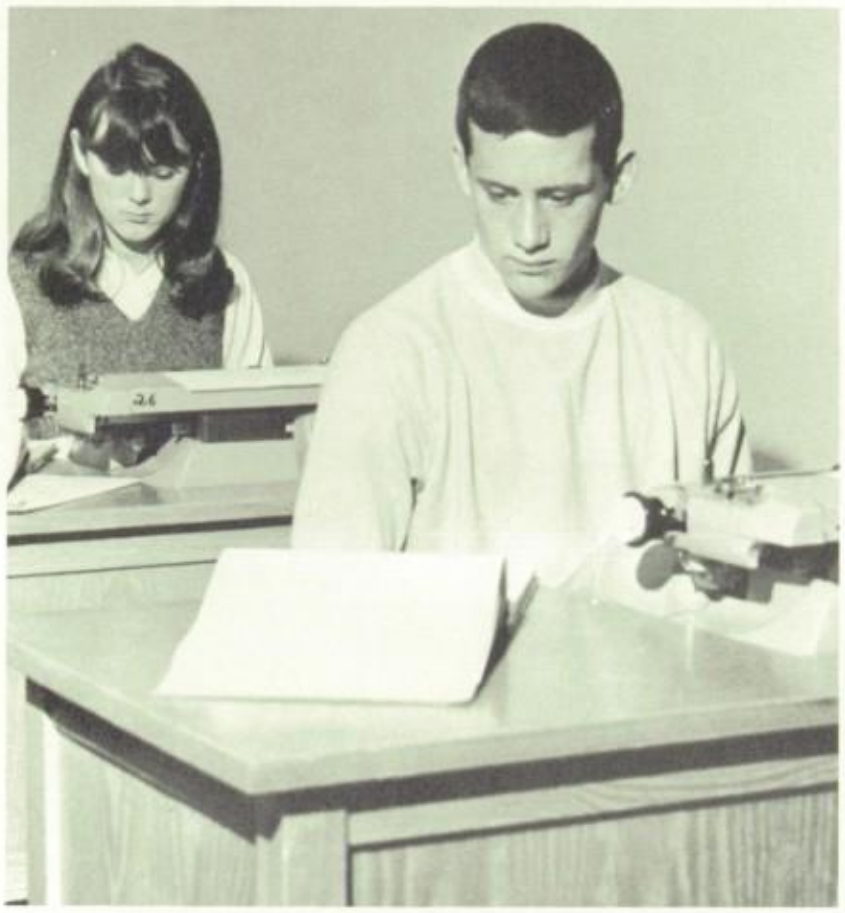
Emphasis on Exercise Marks Departmental Trend



The revamping of the weight training facilities was the major change in this year's boys' Physical Education Department. In previous years a lack of space prevented more than a few boys at a time from lifting weights, but with the help of a group of athletes, the coaches converted the Civil Defense storage room into a new area for weight training. This expansion gave more boys a chance to "sweat a bucket" the goal for this year's physical education program. Director Earl Ellingson, concerned with improving the physical fitness of today's youth, believes that work and strenuous activity build both character and physique.

In conjunction with Mr. Ellingson's exercise program for boys, the girls were offered a new course in Form and Figure. Director Mary Lou Snyder attempted to increase the girls' knowledge of outside activities by having a series of talks presented by various coaches. The main topics of the talks were the fundamentals, rules, and techniques of football. In order to find a more ideal physical education course a poll was taken to evaluate the present gym classes.



New Machines Improve Pupil Business Skills

Electric typewriters were a new addition that the Business Education Department made to the steno laboratory. This modern equipment and a full electronic laboratory made the department's facilities equivalent to that which is found in a business office.

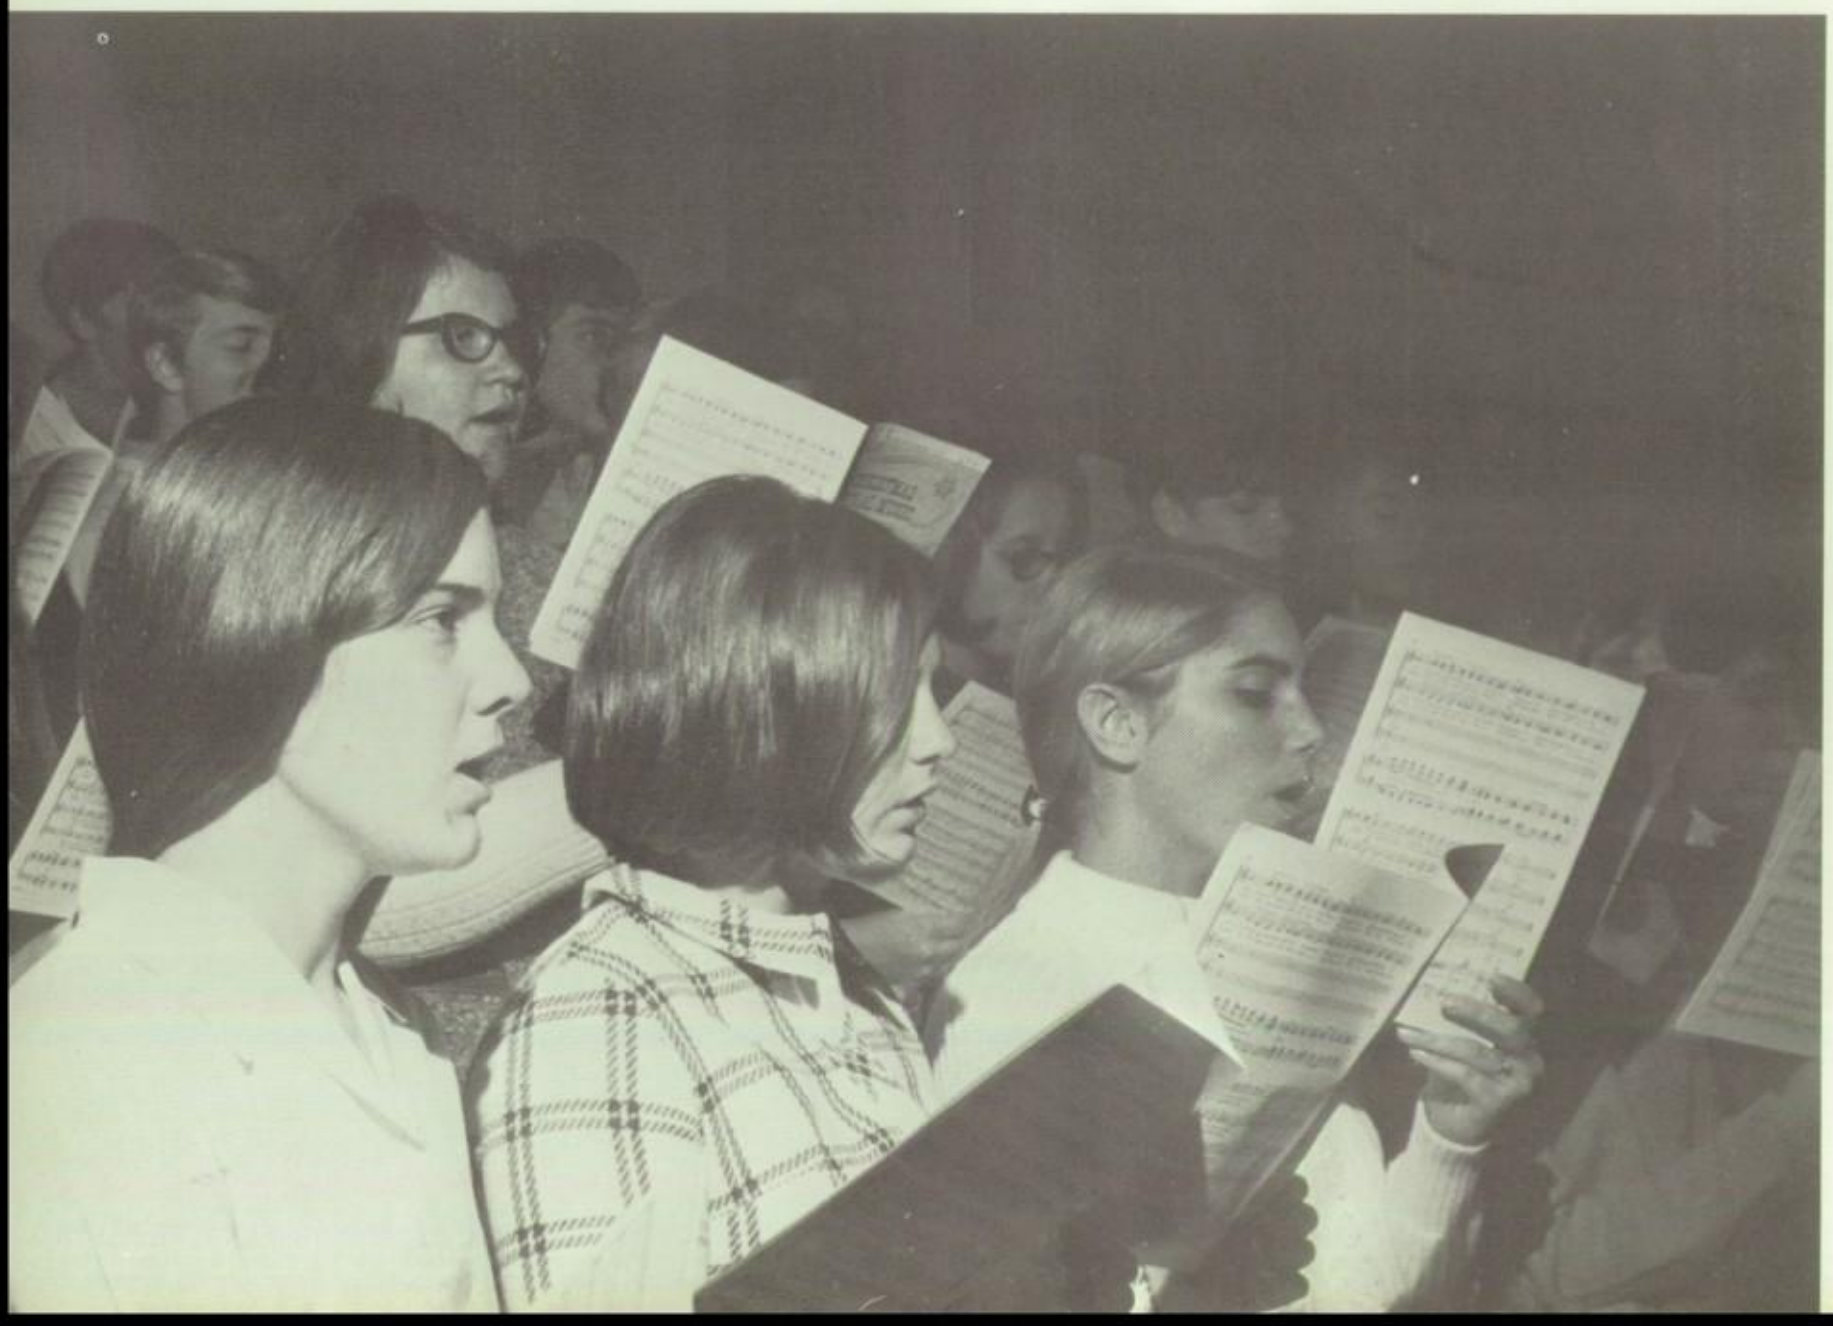
The data processing students were furnished with the IBM 2-card punch machine and a collator which merges two or more unit record card files into one. These two data processing machines helped to speed up student work, allowing them time to work on the card punch, sorter, and accounting machine.

The department offered practice rooms for students of business to use during their study hall. These rooms consisted of typewriters and adding machines, and were monitored by student volunteers.

The Beat Goes on with Constant Rehearsing

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast" and the Music Department did its best to keep all participants calm by offering enough opportunities to satisfy the desires and ambitions of any vocalist or instrumentalist. Talent polished by continued practice was allowed expression in Cadet and Concert Band and Orchestra and choral groups. Musical entertainment and competition filled their agenda. Special homerooms and practice periods during and after school allowed a maximum amount of time to prepare Christmas, winter and spring concerts and to practice for the State Music Contest. Challenging for chairs and auditions to qualify for all but freshman groups assured a healthy competition among the musicians.

To further develop sight reading skills and an "ear," a two semester course, Basic Harmony and Theory, was offered to students interested in developing skills necessary for writing melodies. For those individuals interested in expanding their involvement, there were madrigal and folk groups formed within the choirs, marching and stage bands and string groups within the orchestra. Most of these were student inspired and student directed efforts for school and community service as volunteer entertainment.



Student Artists Plan Displays, Showcases

Student art exhibits and showcases were on display during music and drama presentations, marking the Art Department's new approach to involvement in school affairs. This afforded class artists an opportunity to present their work to the public as well as to fellow students. Poster contests on community and national levels and an art display in June judged by the Elmhurst Woman's Club were among extracurricular activities.

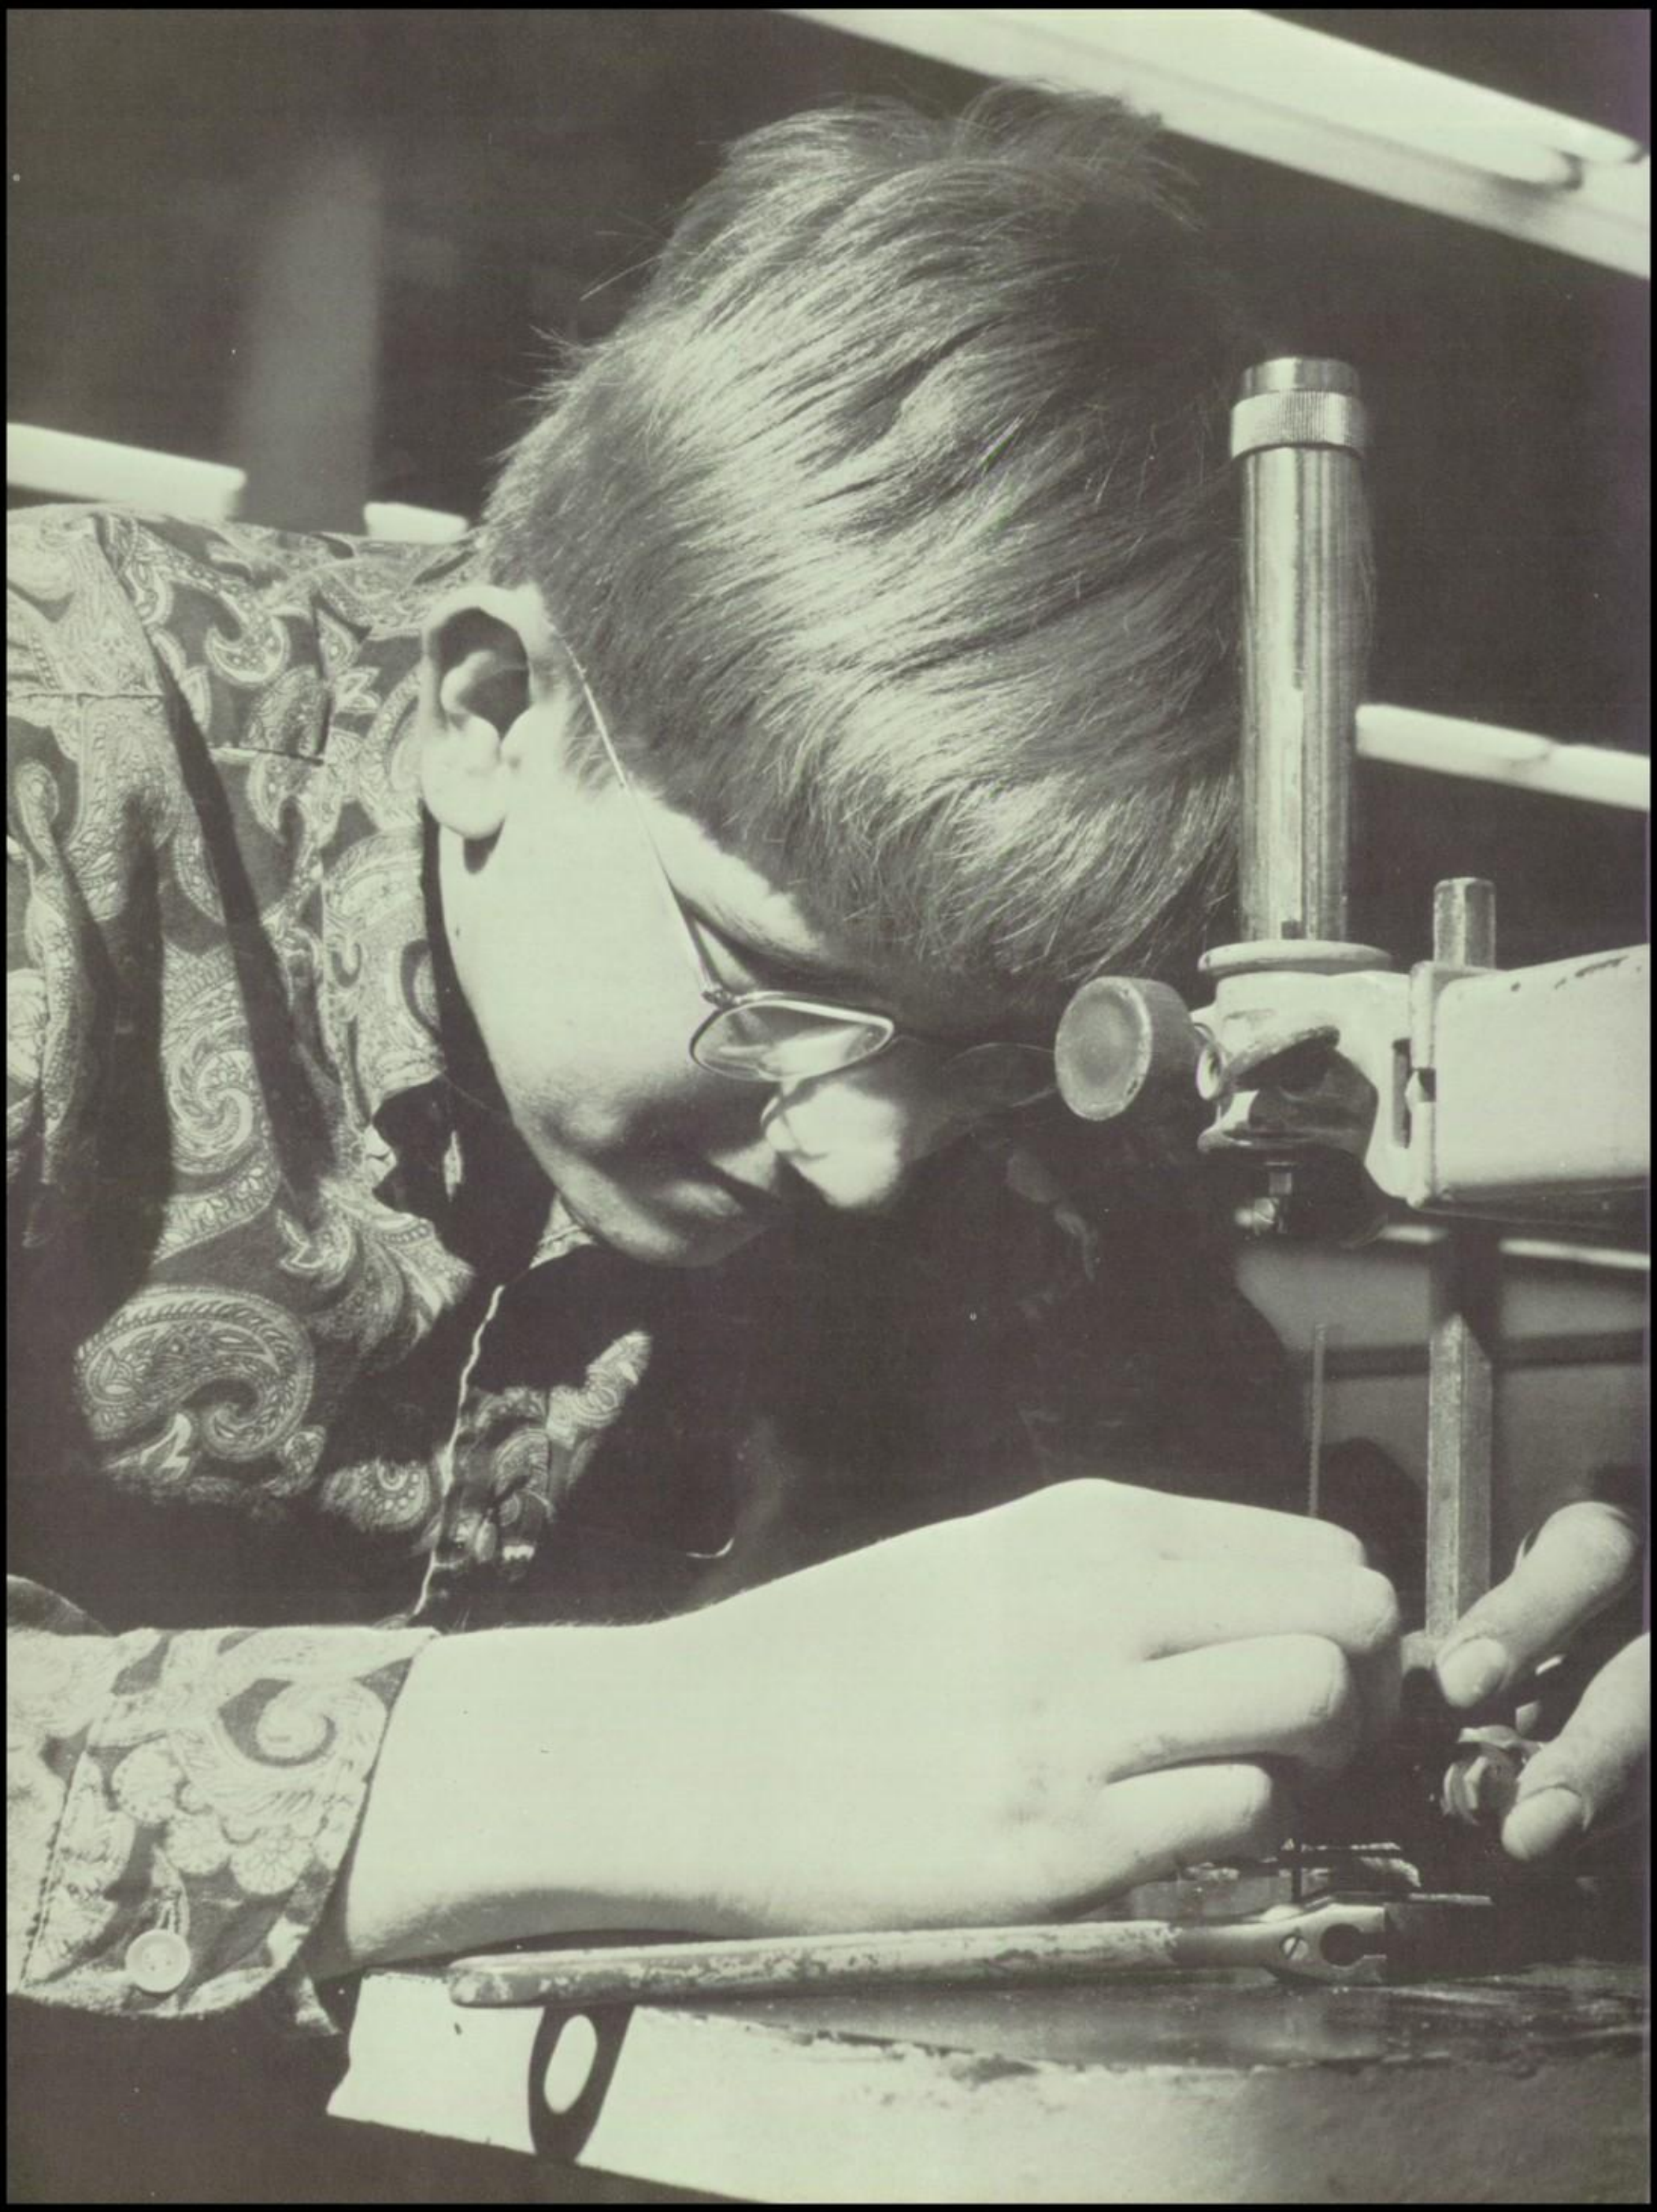
To meet the demands of an increasing student enrollment, the department expanded its facilities with the addition of another classroom and a new art instructor. Courses offered this year covered fields of commercial art, painting, printmaking, jewelry, ceramics, sketching, and visual survey. Interested and talented students had the opportunity to join a staff, under the direction of Art Department Chairman, Mrs. Ann Schroeder, which provided art work for school publications. Staff members received honors including Allerton Art Scholarships and Scholastic Art Awards.

Becoming a home economist does not, as popularly rumored, entail permanent relegation to the stove or sewing machine. This year's home economics students banished those misconceptions. Trips to a training center for McDonald's employees, to the kitchens of United Airlines, Henrici's Restaurant, and to the massive Chicagoland Jewel Distribution Centers were a few of many opportunities afforded to cut the apron strings of the young homemakers. Supplementing study within the classroom were professional speakers and demonstrators, including representatives from the McCall Pattern Company, the Unique Zipper Company, and the Northern Illinois Gas Company.

Practical application of skills was stressed as foods students prepared guest meals and buffets and served over 500 faculty members and parents at the Christmas Tea. Clothing students produced a spring style show open to the public.

In conjunction with the effort to offer an exploration of many fields, two new courses were offered–Foods II and Child Development. Foods II curriculum included an introduction to gourmet cooking, international diets, recipe study and development, and cake decorating. As part of a unit on consumer interest, the class served as a tasting panel for Swift and Company.

Trips, Demonstrations Supplement Class Work



Practical Experience Builds Vocational Skills

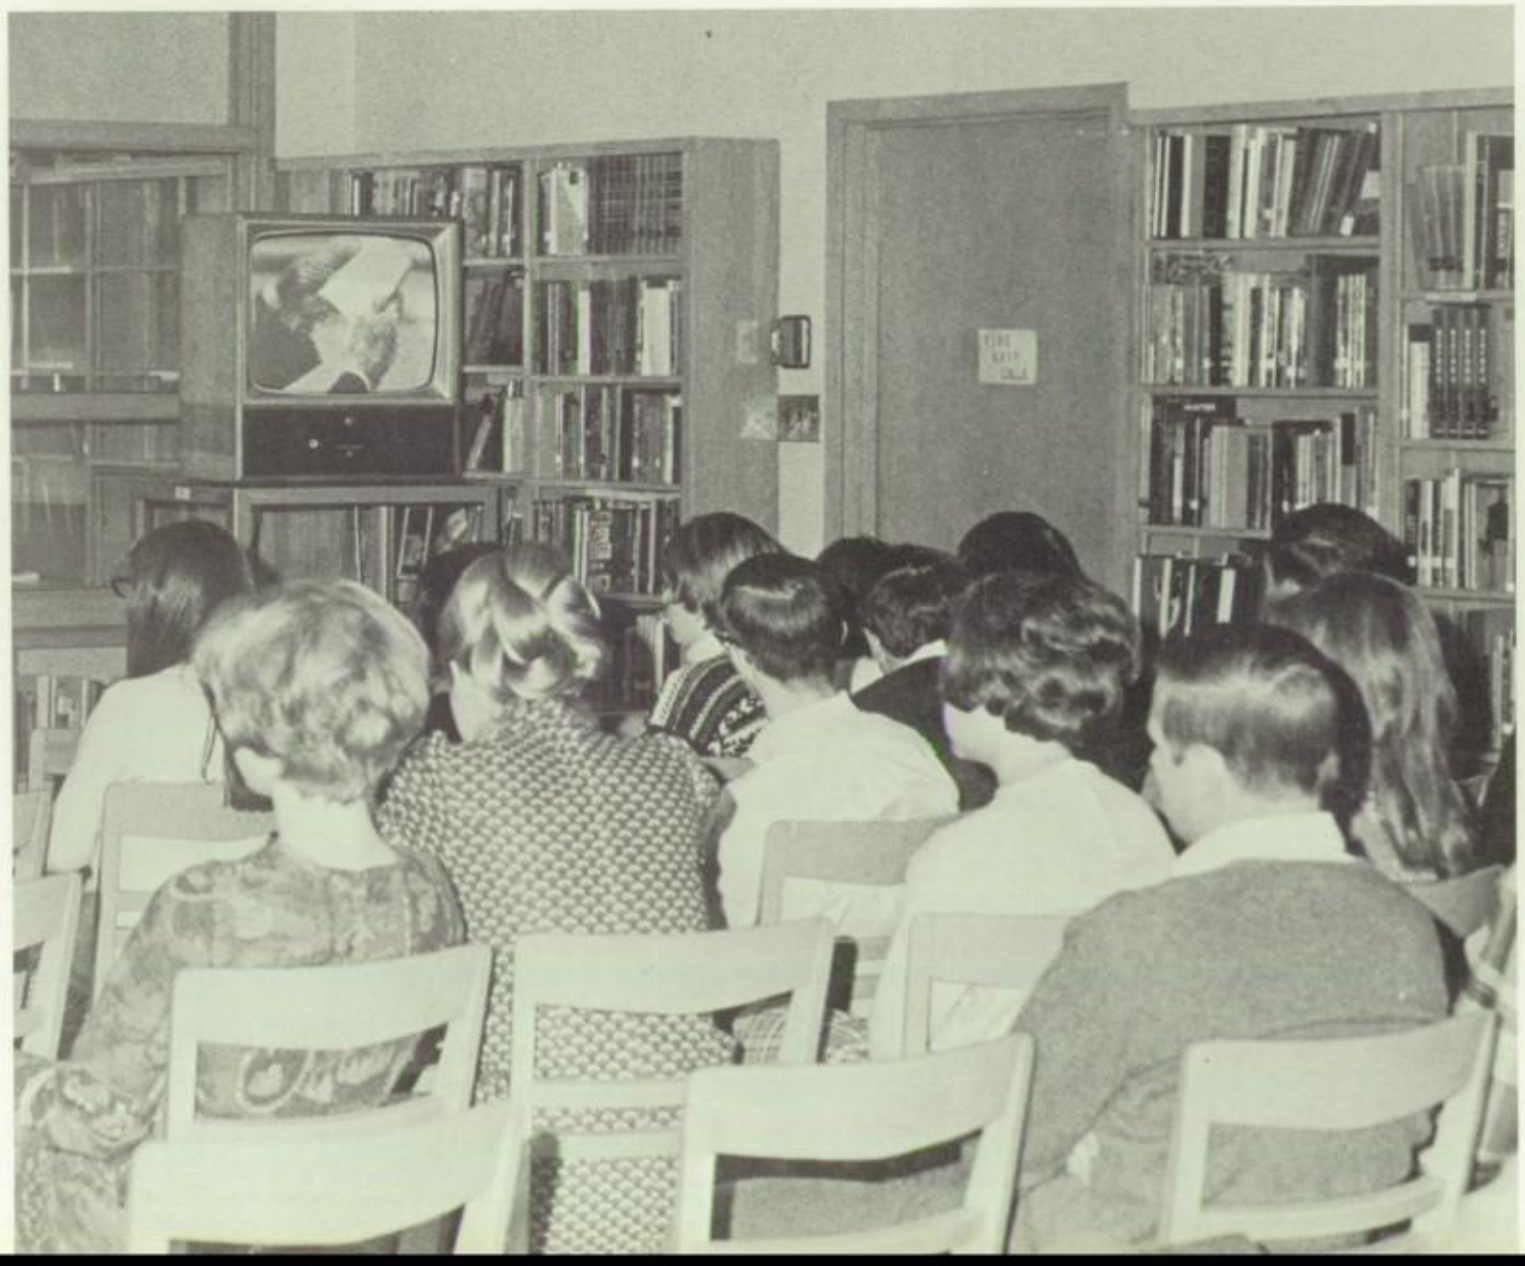
The buzz of a saw and the pound of a hammer were familiar sounds that came from the Industrial Arts Department when boys from surrounding junior high schools came to observe work in the shops. Teachers pointed out how the junior high craft skills could be correlated to the more advanced ones at York in metal, wood, and mechanical drawing. Visiting these classes they observed that melted metals take the form of the designer's choice when poured into a wooden foundry mold; carpentry includes knowledge ranging from joint structure to the application of commercial finishes; a complete set of blueprints is only the beginning in mechanical drawing, for from this, a model of original design is constructed.

Auto shop acquired the Clayton-Chassis dynamoneter, a machine which not only locates the problems in a car but also analyzes them. Electronics was no exception to York's high standards, for boys were able to experiment on a new Zenith color television set.

A video tape recording system that produces a scene as an instant replay was the latest addition to the audio-visual aids department. Comprised of a television and recording unit, it received the sight and sound of any event and then reproduced it on the screen and recorder. Mr. Frederick Snyder, head of the department, said that this instrument had such uses as repeating a class day for students who had been absent or giving the students an opportunity to view themselves delivering a speech in speech classes. Other equipment used by the boys in the department in earning their credit for the year were the tape recorder, phonograph, and the film, slide, overhead and opaque projectors. The boys were also kept busy maintaining the District 88 film library that is housed at York. They helped in ordering, repairing, and distributing the films.

This department was also active with after-school duties. Eight boys from the department were on a photography staff and took pictures for The York-Hi and Y's Tales and prepared slides for freshman and library orientations. The whole department was responsible for the operation of all the public address systems during assemblies and club meetings after school.

Video System Complements Recording Facilities



Specialized Education Meets Everyday Needs

District 88 is expanding its special education program to provide facilities by September, 1969, for all special education students. This year, two groups were at York—Educable Mentally Handicapped and Multiply Handicapped Deaf. Specialists in special education were consistent in advocating for the EMH student a curriculum close to everyday living needs. The chief orientation was vocational but, along with this, was the necessity for training in personal and social adjustment, healthful living, and effective consumership.

Individualized instruction was the keynote for the MHD, and its program was oriented primarily toward increasing communication skills and providing for prevocational training. All students in this class are hearing impaired with some additional handicap.

Society Recognizes Scholastic Endeavor

York's chapter of the National Honor Society, founded in 1925, has maintained stringent membership requirements– only 5% of the Junior Class and 15% of the Senior Class can be elected. Juniors must have maintained a 3.25 grade point average for five semesters, and seniors must have a 3.00 average for seven semesters' work to belong to an organization that considers ways to foster enthusiasm for learning to create a desire to serve, and to reward performances well done.

When the national constitution was adopted in 1921 and the National Association of Secondary School Principals chose to sponsor NHS, one founder, Dr. Powell, worked to eradicate what he termed "a stigma of being too high-browish." Therefore, his viewpoint having been evaluated, the additional qualities of leadership, character, and service were taken into consideration when York faculty members marked their ballots.

When the student is allowed to wear the NHS pin, he also assumes some responsibilities. The seniors elected in the junior year plan the induction ceremony, and juniors serve as ushers during the commencement exercises in June.

Council Employs New Methods For Involvement

With our modern world in a constant state of flux, where a thousand small voices pronounce anathemas against institutions, persons, and practices, the questions may seem to outweigh the answers and the necessity of a strong guiding force becomes obvious. This year's Student Council sought to provide such a force, directing it toward the betterment of student character and education. First, it provided an outlet for complaints and suggestions. Working quietly behind the scenes, this organization solved some problems before they developed into major concerns. For other problems, special homeroom research committees, composed of members of the student body at large and headed by a council member, were created. These research groups concerned themselves with the study of such topics as a new dress code, the narcotics problem, an intramural soccer program, and the District 88 tax referendum.

Student Council also provided a link between the York student body and the outside world. Council, guided by Mrs. Joanne Fischer, made many decisions which determined the type of image York would have in the eyes of outsiders. For example, Student Council sponsored two foster children—Mary Blaine Murietta in New Mexico and Cheung Chi in Hong Kong—in addition to contributing to charities and sponsoring service projects such as the Appalachia and Viet Nam clothing drives.

AFS: Jet Set with Purpose-Friendship

1968 was a landmark year for York's American Field Service Committee. For the first time in the committee's history, three foreign students came to York to live and study: Roma Griffiths of Australia, Beth Venzon of the Philippines, and Steve Thomi of Switzerland. A two-way system of learning and sharing was readily established as many Yorkites expanded their knowledge of different peoples while the AFSers adjusted to the United States scene.

Also unique to 1968 was the participation of a York student in the Americans Abroad winter program. Peter Pompei, a senior, spent the entire year living with a host family in Ville d'Avray, France. Even the annual candy sale was revolutionized when, for the first time, two types of candy – pollydoodles and chocolate-covered almonds – were offered simultaneously. Tales of the Land Down Under, Filipino dancing, and slides of Switzerland – all presented by York's three AFSers – provided novel entertainment for committee members at a Christmas party.

Tradition was not completely abolished, however. In the early fall a special selection committee met to choose York's representatives to the Americans Abroad program. Juniors Liz Marbach and Charlotte Cowles, applicants for the summer and winter programs, respectively, were selected after a series of interviews. Another tradition, renewed during the Christmas season, was the annual sale of mistletoe.

Ideas, Words, Style Needed for Each Page

"On with those heads!" This frequently-heard cry was not that of a confused Queen of Hearts, but a command from yearbook sponsor Mrs. Lucile Albert or the co-editors-in-chief. Writing headlines was just one part of the work involved in preparing a page for the yearbook.

Although the individual procedure varied with each type of page, the basic steps were the same. First, a rough plan for the page was concocted by the editors, and appropriate pictures were scheduled and selected. The layout staff then determined the precise dimensions and positions of the pages' components. At the same time, copy writers gathered information, compiling it into copy blocks, captions, and headlines. After several rewrites, layout and typed copy were assembled and sent to the printers in North Carolina, where a mock page was made up. This sample was proofread by the staff for possible mistakes and returned to Delmar Printing Company to go to press. Thus, one two-hundred-and-fortieth of the yearbook was completed.

This process, multiplied many times over, presented quite a task for the sophomores, juniors, and seniors, who worked during homeroom and seventh period to keep pace with deadlines.

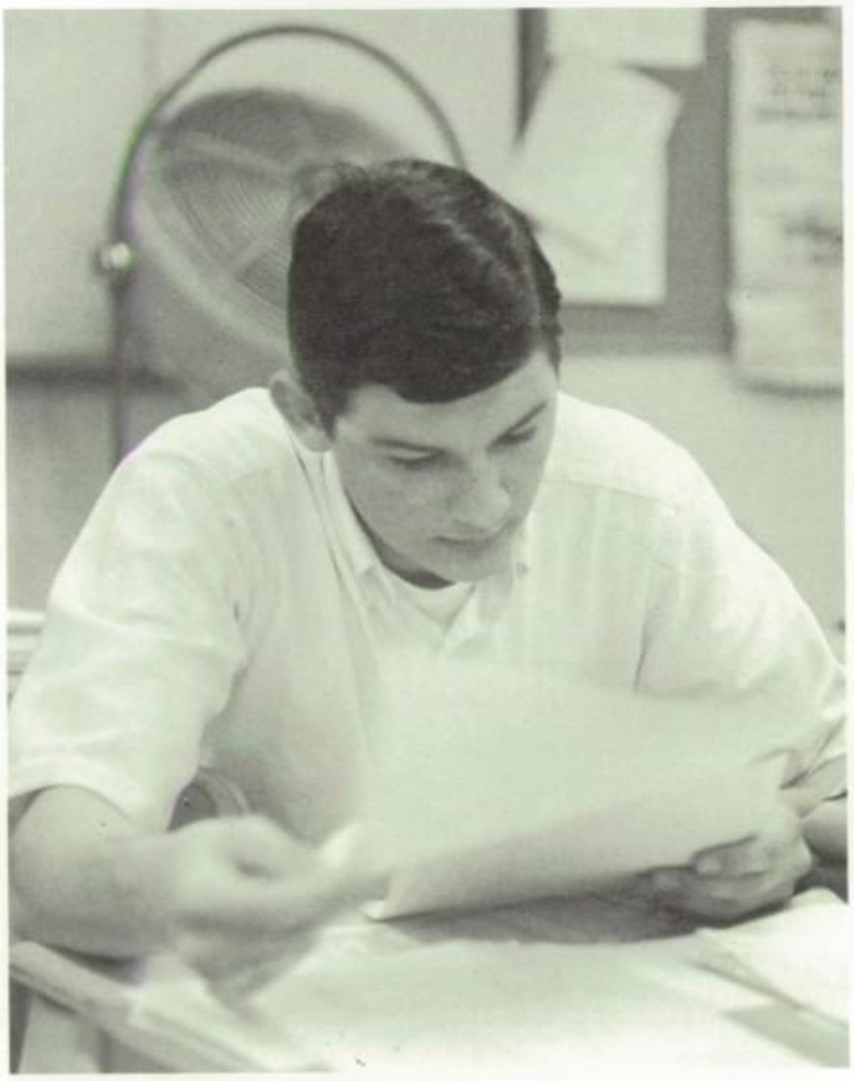
York-Hi: Happenings in Black and White

"When a dog bites a man, that is not news, but when a man bites a dog that is news." Although reporters discovered no rabid men roaming these hallowed halls, they did find enough stories to fill The York-Hi's pages. Following up leads and covering assigned beats, the staff–second largest in the paper's history–worked daily to meet deadlines for the issues published every other week. The staffers–regarded by their sponsor, Miss Eleanor Davis, as an extremely alert group–continued, under the watchful eye of editor Mike Rozboril, a format popular in past years. This included spotlighting seniors, planning literary pages, such as "The Leaky Pen," running columns such as "The Long Shot," and soliciting student opinion on controversial contemporary issues.

Participation in journalism seminars at Northern and Illinois Universities and competition in the Chicago Press Guild Writing Contest at the Circle Campus allowed selected staffers to learn from and to be judged by the pros. Staff members originally earned positions during the spring semester of a journalism course by application and tryouts.



Considering the numerous mistakes of cub reporters, Mike Rozboril realizes an editor's work is never done.

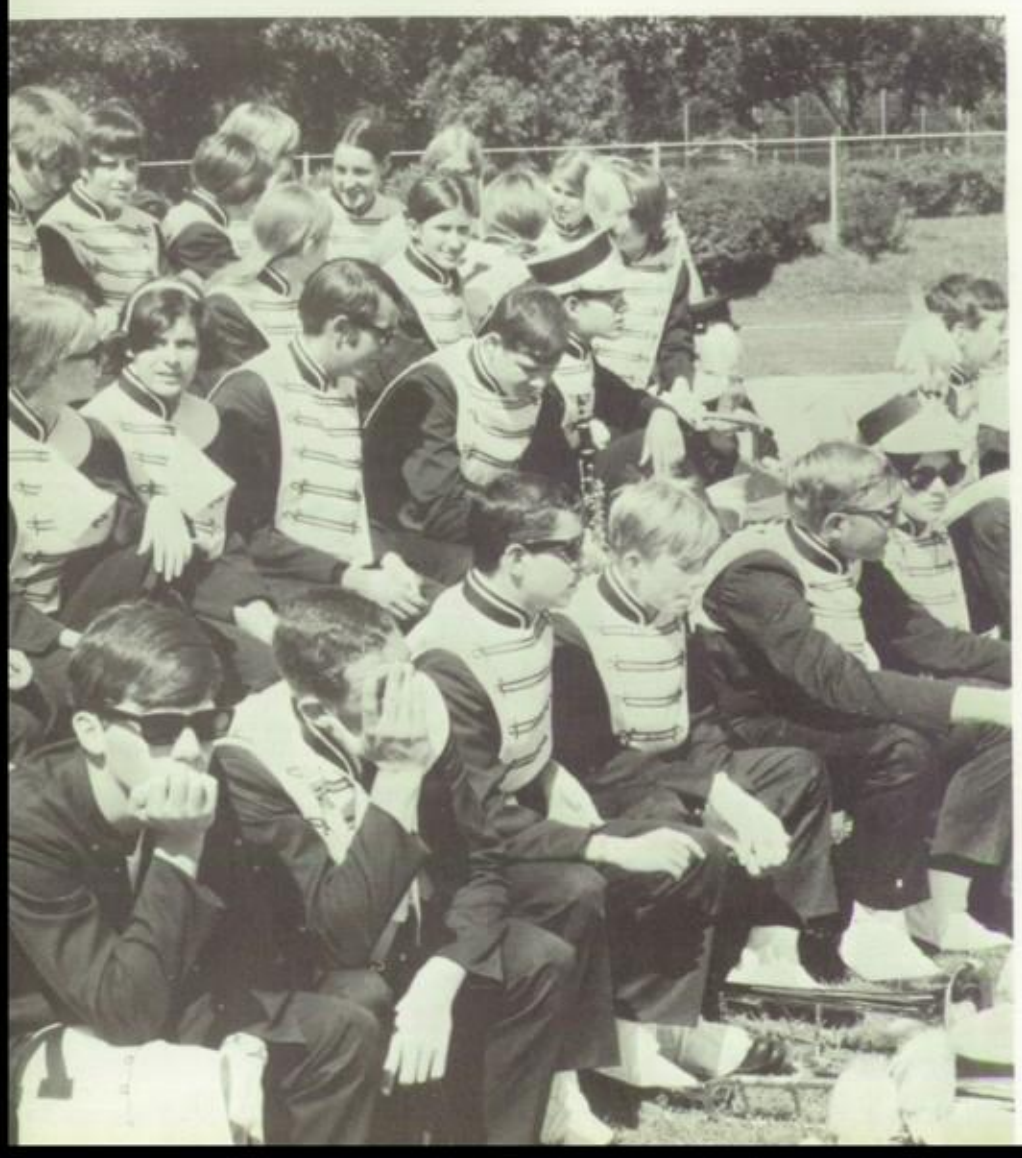
Band Adds Beat to Half-time Entertainment

Sunbaking was best in the end zone, claimed these spectator–participants.



Blending the sound of the instruments of 72 individual members during practice sessions the fourth period, the concert band, under the direction of Mr. LaVerne Reimer, developed the harmony for public performances in the Christmas, winter and spring concerts, schoolday assemblies, and other special appearances. The daily practice of different soloists and ensembles accustomed band members to playing for an audience. These constant drills prepared the band for the rigorous competition encountered in the District and State Contests where they always receive superior ratings.

During home football games, drum major Larry Gorman led the band onto the field for half-time entertainment. Precision marching was important when the band played in the Memorial Day and Homecoming Parades. The concert band participated with the choirs, orchestras, and other bands from District 88 in the Music Festival. Music at home basketball games was conducted by student directors and carried off by the Pep band. Green sales at Christmastime, a Spaghetti Day, and a sockhop helped cover traveling costs for an exchange visit with an Ohio high school and began a new fund for future projects similar to their trip to the Virginia Beach Music Festival in June of 1968.

Concert Performers Receive Top Honors

This school year was a busy one for the orchestra. They participated in a new District 88 music festival held at Willowbrook in January. A combined orchestra from Addison Trail, Willowbrook, and York was conducted by Dr. Marvin Rabin, Professor of Music Education, Wisconsin University. Three other concerts presented were the string orchestra concert held in November, the Christmas program and the spring concert performed by the concert orchestra. The group also played for the graduation ceremonies. Not only did the orchestra play for school activities but also for social functions in the community and elementary school P.T.A. dinners. The concert orchestra is directed by Mr. Leo Pondelick.

Last spring at Northern Illinois University the group performed as a lab orchestra and played a concert for the music department there. Superior ratings were received at the State Solo and ensemble contest and the orchestra contest held in March.

Choir Goes Mod With New Look in Uniforms

Senior Choir achieved the "mod" look when they updated their uniforms with white turtleneck sweaters and blue blazers. This year's choir was the largest in its history, with a membership of seventy-four. Director Jack Witmer felt this increase assisted them in their efforts to match the record of last year which rated all "superiors" at the state contest. Performances included the state contest, the Christmas Concert, and the Spring Concert. The Choir went caroling at Oakbrook during the Christmas season. Several members and one accompanist from the orchestra also participated in a recently organized folk group. Other groups directed by Mr. Witmer which occasionally sang in conjunction with the Senior Choir were the Junior Choir, Girls' Glee Club, Junior-Senior Girls' Chorus.

The Conquistadors:

Numero Uno in Floats

SPANISH CLUB OFFICERS. Flora Biancalana, President; Carolyn Davis, Treasurer; Alice Klement, Vice-President; Jan Krefting, Secretary; Carolyn Hempen, Points Chairman; Karen Rook, Program Chairman.

Hard work, worry, and loss of sleep seemed of little consequence to the members of Spanish Club after they learned their float placed first in the Homecoming competition. Another first for the club was the policy allowing freshmen taking Spanish 9 Sequential to join. This gave the freshmen an opportunity to participate in the club activities earlier in the year, previously not permitted by the tradition of initiating new members in January.

Guacamole, sopapillas, tostados, and tortillas did not seem so ominously foreign to the members as they became better acquainted with Spanish and Mexican foods and customs at the "mini-fiesta." Members learned and enjoyed simultaneously while watching and sampling authentic Spanish foods being prepared, and examining serapes, jewelry, sombreros, and coins from the Spanish-speaking countries of the world. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Allan Jacobson and Mrs. Cheryl Whitehall, the activities of the year were brought to a close as awards were presented and officers announced for the coming year at a Spanish restaurant in Chicago.

Culminating a nine day Mexican Christmas tradition, chanting peregrinas in Posada procession inquired if there was room at the inn.

"Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht! Alles schlaft, Einsam Wacht . . ."

Herr, Fraulein Unite for Weihnachtsfest

Hectic weeks of work for both students and sponsors, Mrs. Margaret Pfaffle and Mrs. Aldona Smulkstys, paid off when the traditionally colorful German Club float placed 2nd in the Homecoming competition.

December marked the occasion for the annual Weihnachtsfest, a German Christmas celebration which included an authentic smorgasbord dinner. Entertainment was a major activity of the evening including folk dancing and singing of German Christmas carols, all done by the club members themselves. Upholding its tradition of promoting interest in German culture and language, the winter program included guest speakers and sessions conducted entirely in German.

GERMAN CLUB OFFICERS: Ruthann Lucht, Treasurer; Tom Nichols, Vice-President; Rita Bajars, Secretary; Carol Mundil, President.

"Romans" prepared food and costumes for York's oldest annual celebration.

Roman Banquet Honors Spirit of Jupiter

LATIN CLUB OFFICERS: Diane Green, Treasurer; Laurel Groenwald, Secretary; Tom Peterson, Vice-President; Doug Baker, President.

"Oh Jupiter, bless the noble Romans gathered here and make this feast pleasing in the eyes of the gods!" Thus, began Latin Club's biggest celebration of the year, the Roman Banquet, with the ceremonial invocation to the ancient gods of Olympus. Slaves performed various tricks for their masters while food and drink were served by young slaves. Much work went into the preparations for this feast, making it both memorable and fun. Other activities included the building of the homecoming float which earned fourth place, the running of the concession stands at one of the football games, and sponsoring of a soc hop two weeks before Christmas. The members, under the guidance of Mrs. Betty Whittaker and Mrs. Judith Vonasch, viewed a presentation of slides of Rome as it is today, narrated by Mrs. Larson, a former Latin teacher at York. A new committee was set up by the club to arrange for speakers to come to Latin Club meetings and to organize the monthly club sessions. At the close of the year pins were distributed to those who had compiled enough points by participating in the club functions.

FRENCH CLUB OFFICERS: Don Weeda, Treasurer; Joanne Pedersen, Secretary; Kassie Davis, Vice-President; Mary Cisar, President.

Music began to play as the French Club members and initiates fell into place for the Grand Promenade at the French Club Mardi Gras, entitled "La Ville Lumiere." Dressed in festive costumes for this annual event, the participants paraded down the imaginary streets of Paris and then dined in the picturesque sidewalk cafes. After the dinner entertainment was provided through amazing feats performed by the French Club initiates.

A highlight of the year included a program presented by Mr. James Berger in which he told of his experiences in Belgium and France the previous year. Other activities included the celebration of Epiphany and work on the Homecoming float. In addition, the club raised money by selling daffodils in the spring. Under the direction of Mrs. Carmen Romanowski and Mrs. Lois Wallace, the club continued the tradition of conducting all of its meetings in French to give its members an opportunity to apply their knowledge of the language.

Monkey business and slippery surprises abounded at French Club's Spring Mardi Gras.

French Club freshmen were initiated by whipping wet noodles with their feet.

Teacher's Aids, Tutors Learn from Teaching

The Future Teachers of America launched its fifth season of school activity this year. Members not only provided tutoring services for fellow students, but also worked during the year as teachers' aides, thus acquiring some valuable experience.

Seeking to interest students in the teaching profession, the group scheduled representative teachers from high schools and colleges as guests at their monthly meetings. An open meeting for all York students was held in February to discuss scholarship opportunities available to York students. The club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Dan Kane and Mrs. Doris Dailey, also gave a Teachers' Tea and observed National Education Week by presenting each York teacher with an apple.

Tutors found themselves on the other side of the desk as joint sessions revealed that teaching is a learning process, too.

Floatbuilders tried to D-grade the Maine East Demons.

MATH CLUB OFFICERS. Don Weeda, President; Sally Wotzak, Secretary; Allen Kapusta, Treasurer; Jim Price, Vice-President.

Junior Mathematicians Compete and Compute

"Maine problem solved" – sound familiar? It should – it was Math Club's Homecoming float theme. Mr. Leon Benson and Mr. Paul Rainey, the club's sponsors, were proud that the members' extra ambition paid off with third place in the club competition. Math Club tried a new outlook by emphasizing demonstrations and discussions in place of the usual lectures. The club's activities included a tournament involving the mathematical game Hex, a field trip, and preparation and review for the Math contest participants.

Computer Club offered additional opportunities to become better acquainted with computer operation and technology. A lab was added to make the computer available for more students. The other feature was a direct teletype connection between York and the Illinois Institute of Technology. Projects undertaken by student programmers and Mr. Donald Peterson, sponsor, were grading of a test and figuring of basketball statistics.

Club-o-Rama gave top math students an opportunity to get away from their books and into the sunshine.

IITRAN, the computer language developed by IIT for the 360 IBM computer, provided members the medium for communication with a real, live machine.

YBCC Peruses, Pursues Career Opportunities

Students looking forward to employment opportunities in the commercial world chose speakers according to their interests in York Business Careers Club. Each month, sponsors Miss Sara Dewey and Mr. Gary Grote and the business aspirants heard representatives engaged in different occupations in order to gain knowledge of a variety of fields of work. A beautician, a legal secretary, and a banker spoke about their work to the members.

In the interest of public-minded business YBCC served the community at Christmas by sending the orphans at Dixon State Hospital hand sewn pillows shaped like animals. A field trip to a radiobroadcasting station offered students a glimpse of marketing activities that could prove valuable in careers after high school or college.

YBCC members explored the inner workings of various businesses searching for career opportunities.

Radio Club Readies Novices for Ham Status

Sending signals halfway around the world, the Radio Club used its transmitter and receiver to search for messages of other amateur radio enthusiasts. By broadcasting the call letters of the club, WA9IHK, the student operators contacted amateurs in places ranging from Chicago to Japan.

For the benefit of the club members, the more experienced students gave lectures on the operation of the radio. These aids were supplemented by a radio set on which the potential hams could improve their technique. With the help of sponsor Mr. Richard Davis, novices were encouraged to advance themselves to the point at which they could apply for their own amateur operator's license.

RADIO CLUB OFFICERS: Joe Divito, Secretary-Treasurer; Randy Kolar, Vice-President; Not Pictured: Randy Curran, President.

In training for amateur operating licenses, Radio Club members tapped out messages to other clubs and stations throughout the world.

Charter Members Frolic in Winter Wonderland

SKI CLUB OFFICERS: Connie Lehocky, Pete Reimmann, Joe Vertovec, Instructors; Mark Anderson, President; Wesley Pfenning, Secretary; Jan Bolt, Treasurer; Keith Burnett, Vice-President.

The history of York's Ski Club is one which can be told best with laughter and with the muffled shriek of an unexpected fall. Vague mutterings about skis bent into fascinating shapes, designs matched by the appropriate legs, served to establish among the ranks of this organization a gay but wary spirit of camaraderie. Weathered skiers tearfully described the destruction of new equipment as an apologetic bunny ploughed with great charm into a crowded lift line. Such stories became more unbelievable as time passed, but conversation was regularly freshened by sagas about the club's many local trips.

Weekend ventures to Alpine Valley in Geneva and way-laid plans for a trip to Indian Head Mountain in Michigan (the hotel's furnace exploded) were projects undertaken under the guidance of Mr. Terry Ludwig, Miss Ilene Dyke, Miss Shirley Hassler, Mrs. Barbara Worley, and Mr. Robert Carlson, faculty enthusiasts. Early in the year the members earned a reputation as go-getters. A money-making project assembling jeep horn cables in "The Factory" allowed individuals to amass credits applicable to future ventures. Spring vacationing in the sun and snow of Winter Park, Colorado, enabled these workers to enjoy a well-earned five-day fling.

Becoming the next Jean Claude Killy or Pepi Steigler was the goal of all Ski Club members.

Fitness, Form Mark GAA, Orchesis Activities

Participation in the club-o-rama "What's It All About," a Christmas party, and a bake sale headed the activities of this year's GAA. Rounding out the agenda were the annual Mother-Daughter, Father-Daughter volleyball games, a project of popcorn concessions at football and basketball games and a soc-hop in February. The girls spent hours decorating a flower-covered third place Homecoming car christened "Daze the Demons."

Members met every Tuesday and Thursday to play speedball, volleyball, field hockey, and basketball. During these sessions they developed their coordination and skill while learning more about girls' sports. One main purpose was to encourage good sportsmanship; another was to further interest in girls' sports. They enjoyed victory or suffered defeat under the supervision of Miss Margaret Lacey, sponsor. While engaging in the various games, members earned points toward pins, numerals, and letters. The year ended with Awards Night, when the girls were rewarded for their efforts on the basis of number of points accumulated. Officers for the following year were announced and inducted at the same time.

By switching to homeroom assembly performances, Orchesis sought to acquaint more people with their club. This year's performances were held on April 25 during the four homeroom assembly periods. Students met together Wednesdays after school, grouped by levels of experience, and practiced dance routines. By combining the basic locomotor, pendular, percussive, sustained, suspended, and collapsed movements, the group was able to choregraph their own dances.

A professional dancer came to a teachers' workshop given by Orchesis. The workshop was for area dance teachers like the club sponsor, Mrs. Louise Nettleton, and was conducted to teach new techniques and approaches to dance. Members also busied themselves handling concessions at games and sponsoring a soc-hop.

Future Homemakers Sew, Bake, Budget Now

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB OFFICERS. Andrea Cain, Secretary; Joyce Kelstrom, Treasurer; Debbie Latinis, Vice-President; Marsha Hankermeyer, President.

New members of the Home Ec Club were initiated by walking blindfolded across a floor scattered with raw eggs. The next activity was a sale in which the girls sold assorted hard candies. Money earned through the sale financed their annual Christmas project. Stockings were stuffed with toys and goodies, decorated, and donated to a children's charity in the area. The group participated in a baking contest to determine the cake with the best appearance and flavor. Beauty was emphasized when a representative from a leading cosmetic firm demonstrated products with the help of one of the girls. Other events included a variety show and a food demonstration by a representative from the Illinois Gas Company. An awards dinner concluded the year with the presentation of pins and induction of new officers. Mrs. Helen O'Neill and Mrs. Roberta Lindgren guided these activities.

Future Nurses Prepare For Medical Careers

A local orphanage was the scene of a Christmas Party sponsored by the Future Nurses of America. The girls made stuffed toys for the orphans and volunteered their services at a local institution, acquiring knowledge in the fields of health and medicine while promoting community welfare. The Future Nurses also met monthly with their sponsor, Mrs. Catherine Meyer, to hear guest speakers from hospitals and nursing schools who spoke on such topics as medical technology and physical therapy. Field trips to hospitals and nursing schools, election of new officers, presentation of awards, and a party in June for club members were also on the club's agenda.

DEBATE TEAM. Seated: Nancy Tischler, Linda Roefer, Sandy Kaysing. Standing: Vicki Pierce, Craig Westfall, Bill Potvin, Bruce Nelson.

Tension and uncertainty, followed by confidence and suspense with a quick contemplation of the opposing team, permeated the atmosphere of more than fifteen debate tournaments. For the first time since 1960, York was represented by all three levels of experience: novice, junior varsity, and varsity. Mrs. Kathleen Kaiser developed the study of logic for novices in time for the York invitational attended by more than fifty schools. York's outcome was a six-win, two-loss record which tied for third place. As the junior and varsity teams gained momentum in facing vigorous competition in the course of the year, adversaries came to respect York. This was the reward shared by the team and Mr. Donald Juday, their coach and director. University of Illinois and the state tournament were goals realized by those who had delved into the question concerning compulsory national service.

In Individual Events, students participated in the field of their choice, including comedy and serious reading, or radio speaking. Members were often given a topic and a short amount of time to prepare before participating during a tournament. The WSC was held at York. This tournament was organized by Mr. Donald Juday and Mrs. Vida Snavely.

Clubs that offer benefits to their members or service to the school are Chess and Stamp Clubs. Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Dean Wiegel and Mr. Salvatori Attento, aimed to gradually improve the games of its players and to eventually perfect them. Fast thinking and concentration, important factors in chess, provided the players with practice in clear and careful reasoning. Interschool competition sharpened their skills. Wins in the contests qualified the members for the Rockford tournament at which they played against the Rockford club.

Accenting Stamp Club's progress this year was the intra-school postal system put into service before Christmas. For three cents, students could mail greeting cards to their friends through the homerooms and also could buy from the club postage stamps for outside mail. Club sponsor and fellow-collector Mrs. Margaret Pfaffle supervised the philatelists in their second year of organized study of the world's postage stamps.

Biologists' "Pot-in" Provides Funds, Flora

"Step right up!" announced the young man, "Get your very own sensitive plants for only a dime apiece." Thus started Biology Club's big sale of the year. In mid-January the members planted various seeds of sensitive plants in plastic pots. This was called their "pot-in." For two months they cultivated these seeds until they were strong young plants and in March sold them to students. The club, guided by Miss Viola Henrikson, had a party to celebrate Charles Darwin's birthday in March. At their regular meetings the members performed several experiments, listened to a speaker on DNA and saw films on related topics. Biology Club held a Science Fair in April open to all students, offering monetary awards for outstanding entries.

By cultivating knowledge of living things, the Biology club unearthed many of nature's secrets.

New Club Dares to Care, Pleads for Biafra

A number of concerned students organized at the beginning of the fall term and called themselves the Human Relations Club. An unusual feature was that this new organization was not governed by elected officers but by working committees. Mrs. Bettye Kaplan sponsored the group.

Many meetings were held by this active club. One of their first actions was to prepare and issue petitions to students for fair housing legislation; these were presented at a series of open meetings in Elmhurst. A Biafra campaign was conducted, posters were designed, and a student assembly was arranged at which a guest speaker was introduced.

Another project that this new group undertook was to prepare a petition for the inclusion of Afro-American history in the social studies course.

GREEN KEY CLUB OFFICERS. Seated: Kay Branz, Treasurer; Diane Allemana, Secretary. Standing: Linda Gorske, President. Not Pictured: Lynda Eckert, Vice-President.

Service within both school and community constituted the activities of Green Key Club this year. Children at the Bensenville Orphanage and at the Children's Receiving Home in Maywood were the objects of much attention in December when club members surprised them with hand sewn Christmas stockings filled with candy and toys. Members gave their services in school by acting as guides at PTA meetings and for Continuing Education. During their study periods, volunteers acted as "runners" for Student Council, delivering passes and notices, and as hall monitors, directing visitors and checking student behavior.

In an effort to give the group, which consists of upper classmen, a preview of college, a university sorority member spoke at one monthly meeting. She described sorority life and contrasted it to the independent's life.

Green Key Club, sponsored by Mrs. Mildred Topinka, is a selective club consisting of junior and senior girls. Requirements for membership are a 2.0 average and a good citizenship record.

Girls Delight Staffs With Yule Stockings

"Little Sister" parties set in action a chain of traditional Girls' Club undertakings. Members welcomed incoming freshmen to their homes during the summer to acquaint them with high school life. Meanwhile, girls prepared the school calendar to be sold during registration week. The sale of Christmas bows and the club's annual Christmas party were masterminded by the executive board. "Cupid's Caper," the semi-formal Valentine's dance, culminated months of preparation.

Weekend projects offered new opportunities for service. York's staff was surprised by the results of one project—decorated, candy-filled Christmas stockings. The arrival of spring coincided with the arrival of Easter baskets at a children's home and home-baked goods at a senior citizen's home. Guiding the projects were sponsor Miss Nancy Ray and assistant sponsors Miss Ilene Dyke, Miss Shirley Hassler, and Miss Barbara Sailors.

Boosting Enthusiasm

Key Policy for Year

One big mass of green and white met the eyes of opponents at home basketball games this year. It was Pep Club's idea to allow only students wearing these colors in the center section of the bleachers. This was one of the projects sponsored to encourage school spirit and to support athletes. The club, under the leadership of Miss Betty Bingham and Mr. Terry Ludwig, also sponsored buses to the State Cross-Country Meet. Following this effort to interest students in the "lonely sport," the members served at the Father-Son Cross-Country Banquet in December.

Pep Club's treasury was kept in the black by such undertaking as selling sweat shirts, homecoming mums, and class pins. Members decorated a first-place homecoming car, "Sink the Maine," which took honors.

The third annual Powder Puff Basketball Game continued a tradition, pitting junior girls against senior girls. The outstanding event was the spring dance, when the Dukes of fall, winter, and spring sports were announced.

Animated Cheering Stirs "Thunderation"

"C'mon, team!" A chorus of urgent voices accompanied the Dukes at all their trials. Owners of the voices, the cheerleaders, started the year with a project of selling three kinds of candy: turtles, caramel mints, and chocolate almonds. Their goal was to make enough money to purchase new outfits. The varsity, who voted on the choices for themselves and for the frosh-soph squad, appeared in green V-necked sweaters and green corduroy culottes. The frosh-soph received new white sweaters and green skirts.

This year the girls organized and performed in a pep rally during the Friday night homecoming activities. For each home football and basketball game, they constructed a huge, decorated paper hoop, through which the varsity team made its entrance. The squad always performed a cheer of greeting for visiting students and introduced visiting cheerleaders to York fans. The varsity made the long trek to Champaign to urge the cross country team on to victory in the state meet. Cheerleaders practiced every Tuesday and Thursday for one hour under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Jane Marriner.

Pom Pon Squad Debuts

In Corduroy Jumpers

Green turtleneck sweaters and white corduroy jumpers lined in green satin created a new look for the 1968-1969 Pom Pon squad. The girls made their debut in the outfits during Homecoming weekend, performing at Friday night's pep rally, marching in the parade, and dancing at the half time show.

Under the direction of Miss Jo Ann Damratowski, the squad met as a gym class, participating in the regular physical education program four days a week and setting aside one day for Pom Pon practice. The group, which was considered a senior gym class, was required to maintain a "B" average in physical education. The peppy group sold green and white numeraled beanies to promote class spirit, and was co-sponsor for a Pep Week soc hop.

Keller, Stolper Earn All-Conference Honors

Junior linebacker Bob Stolper and Senior center Eric Keller were voted to the All-Conference Team. Stolper led the team in defensive points with a total of 169. Keller was named the Most Valuable Lineman.

Some bright spots in an otherwise dismal season for the offense were Captain John Jamieson, Most Valuable Back Gary Naus, and Ron Shade. Naus led the offense in rushing with 204 yards in 53 carries. Shade topped the offense pass receivers by catching 24 passes for 249 yards. The York Junior Varsity Team wound up the season in second place with a 4-1-2 record.

Finishing the season with four consecutive wins, the Barons acquired an overall record of 6-2 which put them in second place in the WSC. After a slow start they managed to move on to an overpowering defeat against Hinsdale 20-7 and then gained a victory over undefeated Downers North with a close score of 7-2.

Coach Don Trolliet's Most Valuable Player and Co-Captain was John Dearborn who led the team with eight touchdowns and a total of 598 yards rushing. Bill Uecker was voted team Captain with three touchdowns and 360 total yards while Rich Dlugas was selected Most Improved.

Dukes Set National Mark; Earn State Title

Pete Reiff, the Dukes' frequent individual medalist, was a key factor in their winning of a seventh consecutive conference title.

"Nobody stops the Dukes" became a reality as the Harriers finished with a perfect season, gaining their 7th straight conference title and bringing the State Cross Country Championship home to York for the third time in the last seven years. Co-captain and Most Valuable Peter Reiff paced the way, winning the Peoria Invitational and taking 3rd in the State Meet — the highest a York runner has ever finished. Dean Foote, co-captain, placed 3rd at Peoria and 8th in the state. York's low score of 121 points downstate was rounded off by Ed Wagner, finishing 13th; Mark Schmelzel, 63rd; and Chuck Weigel, 67th.

Mid-season victory at Peoria was especially significant since this was the Harriers' first year of competition in this meet. The Dukes also won a national postal meet with a record time of 47:53 in the 5-man, 2-mile team race, thus becoming the first high school team in history to officially break 48:00 in the event. The Barons, bolstered by Most Valuable Mark Schmelzel, won five straight dual meets and the DuPage County Crown before submitting to a close 27-28 dual meet loss to Maine East. In addition to Schmelzel, the sophomores' strength was enhanced by steadily improving John Beyer, who finished 5th in the Conference Meet. The team completed the season with an 8-1 dual meet record and a 2nd place Conference Meet finish.

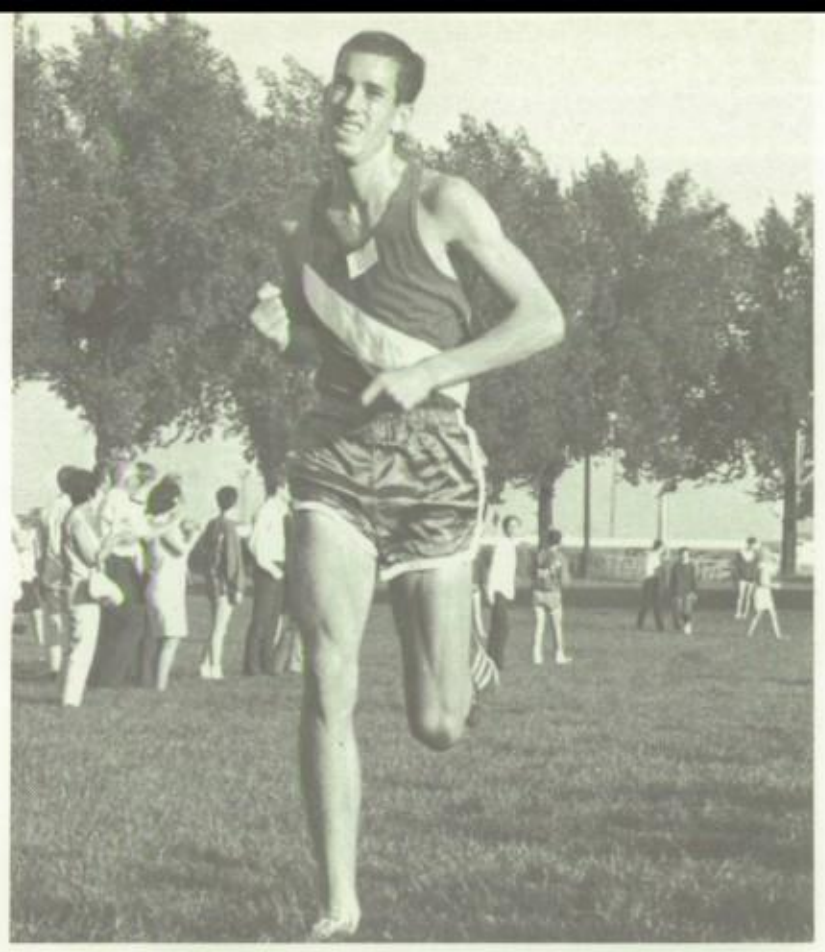
Mark Schmelzel, top sophomore record holder, finished 63rd in his first start in big meet competition.



Pete Reiff had a phenomenal kick that enabled him to place well ahead of the competition. Rarely defeated, Reiff was voted Most Valuable Runner and team co-captain.

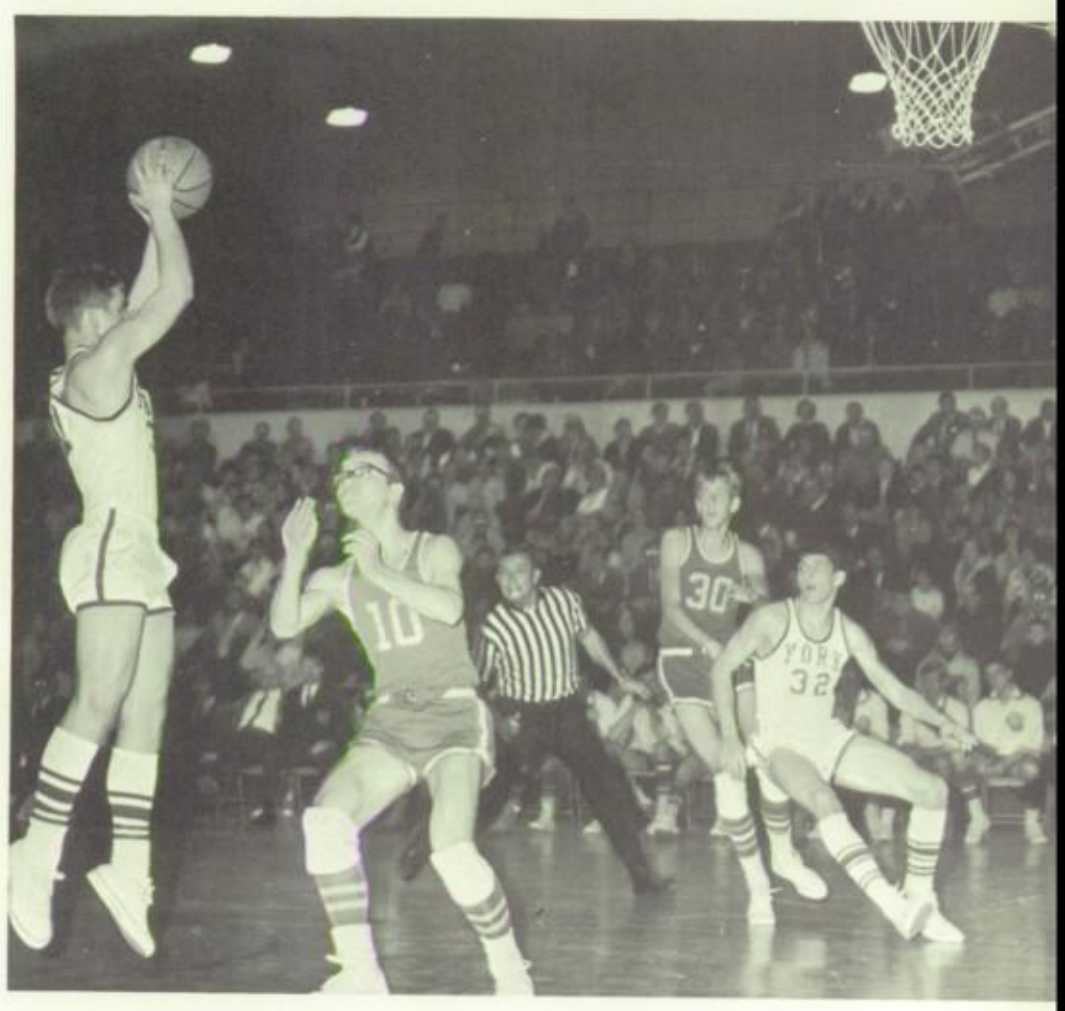
This was the greatest York Cross Country Team ever and the boys are most deserving. They set themselves a goal four years ago and then went about achieving it. They've made many sacrifices along the way to bring this state championship to York, and I am most proud of them. They surely have made the "Long Green Line" a little longer and I shall never forget any of them. It was a real privilege for me as a coach to be associated with such a fine group of young men.

—Coach Joseph Newton

York pays tribute to the memory of Tom Bash, a fine athlete and an outstanding citizen.

Ed Wagner's dedication to the team was shown by his running over 5,000 miles during his summers. Ed capped his high school career with a 13th place finish in the state meet.

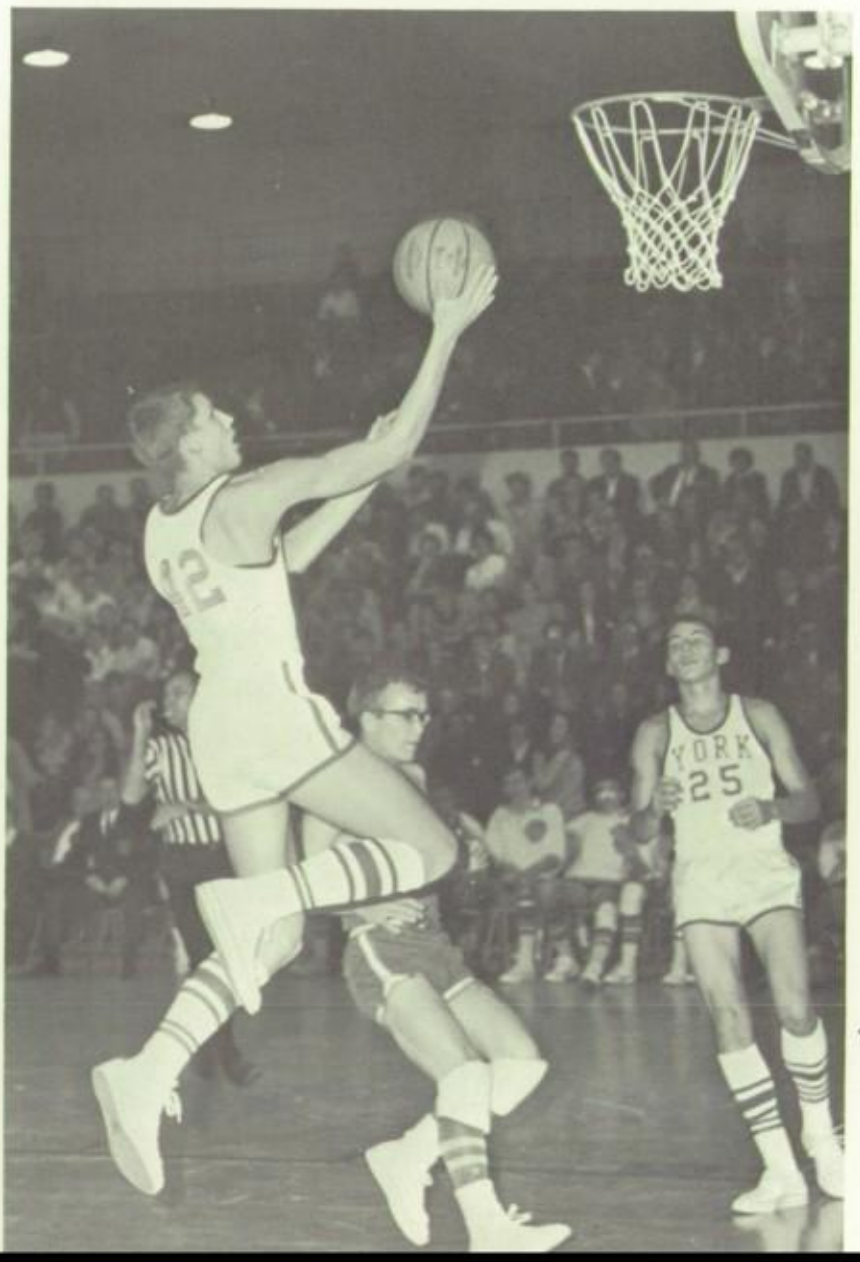
Bill Uecker, the sophomores' chief playmaker, guided the Barons to the conference championship.



The execution of a precision play comes as the result of daily practice.

Sophs Win WSC Title; Second Consecutive

Frequently entering the game during a clutch situation, Steve Novosad provided the support which meant the difference between victory and defeat.



One of the Barons' leading rebounders, Brent Johnston, steadily improved to become a consistent scorer.

Known for his turn-around jump shot, Gary Deitelhoff was one of the Dukes' leading scorers.

Captain Cliff Dyer added his accuracy as an offensive threat to the Duke's offensive attack.

Two Dukes Named to All-Conference Squad

Losing five games by a total of 13 points, Coach Cecil Stinson's Dukes fell to 5th place in the WSC with a 6-8 record. Returning letterman Jim Milkert and junior Denny Pertle earned All-Conference honors with Milkert 4th and Pertle 6th in the conference scoring race.

Milkert was voted Most Valuable as he led the team scoring with 338 points and also collected 71 personal fouls to be tops in that department. Pertle was elected 1969-70 Co-Captain and grabbed 222 rebounds. Dan Purdom was also voted Co-Captain as was Gary Deitelhoff who received the Most Improved Player award.

Pride, determination, and perseverance were vital parts of the Varsity Track Team's successful season. As a team, Coach Joe Newton's athletes did some fast stepping to championships in both the Rockford Relays and the Dupage County Meet. On the individual level, senior Jim Hackbarth led the way by setting a new school two-mile record of 9:20.1 before going on to a third place state finish and a spot on the All-State track team. Junior Pete Reiff also proved a capable performer, setting junior records in the 880, mile, and 2-mile runs. After a third place conference finish, York climaxed the year by unofficially setting a national high school record of 47:50 in the 5-man, two-mile team race. In doing so, distance runners, Pete Reiff, Dave Rowe, Gary Goss, Ed Wagner, and Dean Foote became the first prep team in history to break 48:00 in the event.

Girls Battle to 2nd in Playday Matches

After a delayed start because of rain, the girls' tennis team went on to gain victories over Glenbard East and Riverside-Brookfield. The season record was 2-4, but the team's finish at Playday was a bright spot in the season. The traditional event took place at Willowbrook on October 17. The girls in each position drew numbers to determine whom they would play, and the scores were so close that York tied with Naperville to finish second between Addison Trail and Willowbrook who tied for first.

Freshman Debbie Messman was a tremendous asset to Coach Miss Bonnie Read's team. She managed to move into the position of first singles despite the struggle she encountered with Roma Griffiths, A.F.S. senior from Australia.

"Courting" give girls a chance to avoid "love".

Laden with the medals of their victories, the Lettermen, in their white cardigan sweaters, were a familiar sight to students attending athletic events. Selling programs and refreshments during the football season, ushering at basketball games, maintaining the record board in the lobby of the boys' gym, restricting the wearing of letter sweaters, and acting as cafeteria and locker room monitors were among the services performed by the Lettermen the year round. Sponsored by Mr. Joe Newton and Mr. Clark Fischer, this group of athletes helped to promote good spirit in the "hallowed halls" of York.

The group ended the year with their annual initiation and picnic, in which the Lettermen are famous for their hazing of new members.

A teacher is a strange creature. He plays with children all day, continually beating them at their own games. Peering through his mask, he attempts to unmask his playmates. He seeks a Shakespeare, an Einstein, but finds Johns and Marys and Debbies and Chuckies. He cloaks them in a you-are-the-hope-of-the-future costume and then shows them worlds through a viewmaster. He knows that a youth offers nothing, can do nothing, can say nothing that the adult cannot do better, but the teacher closes his eyes, counts deliberately to ten, and never reveals that most secret of secrets. Sighing to himself, he goes home at night and, oddly enough, comes back the next morning.

Youth may view those on the other side of the desk and on the other side of thirty with a wary eye as anti-Establishment-arianism takes hold. Firmly believing, as F. Scott Fitzgerald did of the rich, that "They're different from you and me," students confirm each others' prejudices. However, the moods of students are transitory. The growing pains pass. And, after differences diminish or disappear completely, each discovers that teachers are human, too.

Producing each of the 240 pages of this year's Y's Tales required the co-operation of many people. All of them deserve special thanks. Mr. "Sam" Becker visited the school on many photographic missions; Mr. Leander Hagerty's Leander–Gibson Studios rushed us the prints, and student photographers submitted their work. Copy was typed by Mrs. Thor Holter, marked for the printers, and mailed to Charlotte, North Carolina. There, Delmar Printers and their representative for York, Mr. Ed Hackleman of Elmhurst, sent our pages through the press. Art work was prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Ann Schroeder for special pages and for our cover manufacturers, S. K. Smith and Company. The homeroom Y's Tales representatives put the sale over the top, books were ordered, names indexed, and revisions made, always under the pressure of deadlines. Throughout the year, administrators and faculty gave us their whole-hearted co-operation.

If there are mistakes, they are not intentional. We hope that you will overlook them and enjoy the book. Many people worked long hours to present this remembrance, and we thank them for their involvement.

Senior staffers first came to appreciate Mrs. Lucile Albert's counsel in 1967. Since our sophomore year, she has never failed to guide us through all the difficulties encountered in publication work. We extend to her our special thanks with best wishes for an easier time next year.
